THE CAMPUS WALKS

Invite us

But wait - Let us

PAUSE . . .

Before we venture further along the campus walks in our tour of the university there are just a few things that we should like to say to you—a few last words of explanation before we turn this book over to you.

We say “explanation”, for this is not, in any true sense, a dedication. We do not believe that there is any need for a dedication for the theme itself carries with it an inscription and full meaning all its own. This book’s sole aim is to give you “Today at Arkansas”. It is to this purpose, to this service alone that it is dedicated.

As you thumb through these pages on a mythical tour of the University of Arkansas we only hope that you may catch a glimmer of the meaning of this theme. We hope that if, in future years, you dust off this book and once more turn through it, you may again, in your memory, be brought back to wander through this grand old school. If, at that far distant time, the sight of these pictures or the sound of these words give you a thrill of recognition, this book will have gone a long way toward achieving its aim. If it can but recreate for only a moment a day at Arkansas then all the work that has gone into its creation will be fully justified.

So try, as you go along with us through this record of one complete day at the university, to live in your mind a past "today". Follow us. Within these covers you will find the campus and buildings just as you have seen them, just as they look day after day. You will meet informally, in their offices, the president and deans of the schools and colleges just as you might meet them any day. You will get a glimpse of students at work in class and lab, just as you might if you wandered some day down the corridors of the buildings in which they are at work. Their faces will look out at you again, some to smile and some to frown. There is a girl that sat on the front row in English and passed notes to the girl behind her. That boy lived in the house next door. He's a great guy; she's a smooth dancer; and so on down the list. You'll know them when you see them. Some of them will be old friends, some merely nodding acquaintances, but all a part of a day at Arkansas.

Here, too, are the football games, the dances, the basketball games, sorority houses, parades, election days, and all those other things that follow the day round the clock. Work, study, play; twenty-four hours a day.

So, this year, the RAZORBACK has attempted to give you the university today caught in pictures and bound between covers for your future enjoyment. This picture is spiced with humor, not maliciously, but in a sense of good fun. If you have been offended, it was but an accident. There are no doubt errors; in an undertaking so big they are always inevitable. We can only trust that you will be open minded in your judgment. Read this book for enjoyment and reread it for memory's sake. May it be a lasting reminder of happy days, good friends, and pleasant places.

And so we give this, the 1937 RAZORBACK, to you and dedicate it to the theme for which it was published

We give you "a day at Arkansas".

—The Staff

THE PRESIDENT GREET'S US . . .

. . . in the cool, quiet interior of his wood paneled office in the new library building. Meet John Clinton Futrall, president of the university for twenty-four years. During that time, though seldom seen and little known, he has directed the course of the school in successful fight for growth and expansion. But we must leave and hurry on to the campus itself.

AND NOW—THE WALKS

Around the curving, tree-shaded walks that circle University Hall we walk toward the front of this historical old building. Looking back we can see the white Vol Walker Memorial library we have just left, framed in the bright green of trees and grass. Beside us rises the dull red brick walls of the Hall itself, contrasting with green trees and white library. On around, through the canopy of the south entrance, to the front of the campus.

EACH FOOT WORN BRICK . . .

. . . and each well worn step of the entrance to University Hall has felt the passing of thousands of University students in the sixty-four years of this old doorway's existence. Tall, stained with age, the graceful portal is incorporated in the official seal of the school where it stands for the traditions and the life of the school. Rising, soft against the bricks of the building, it stands at the head of the senior walk, this entrance of "old main."

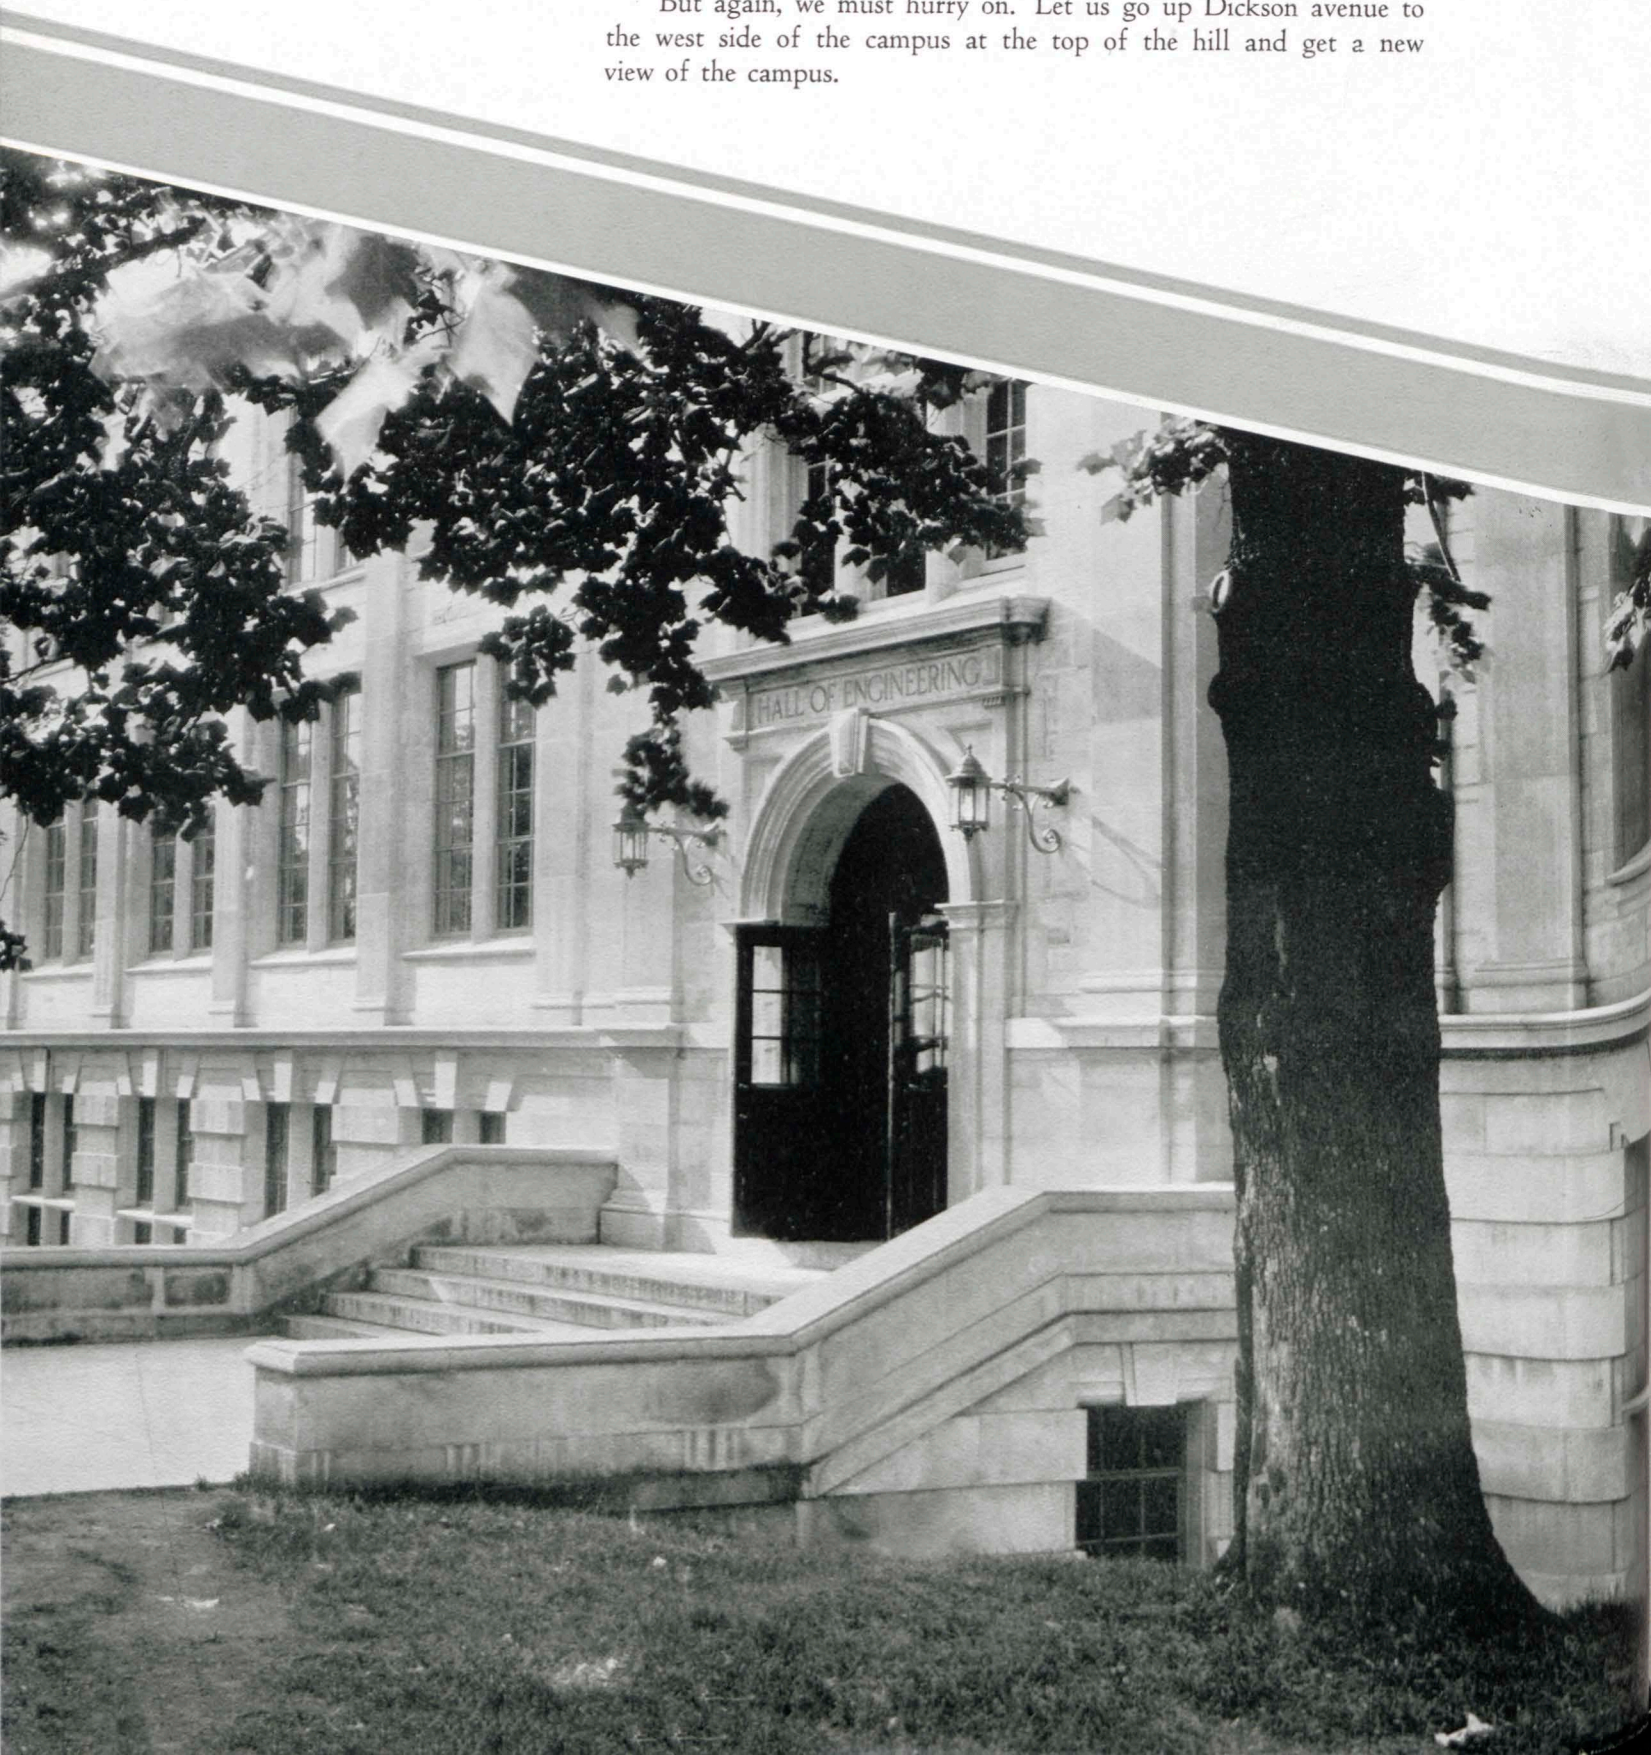

PEACEFUL SHADOWS CAST

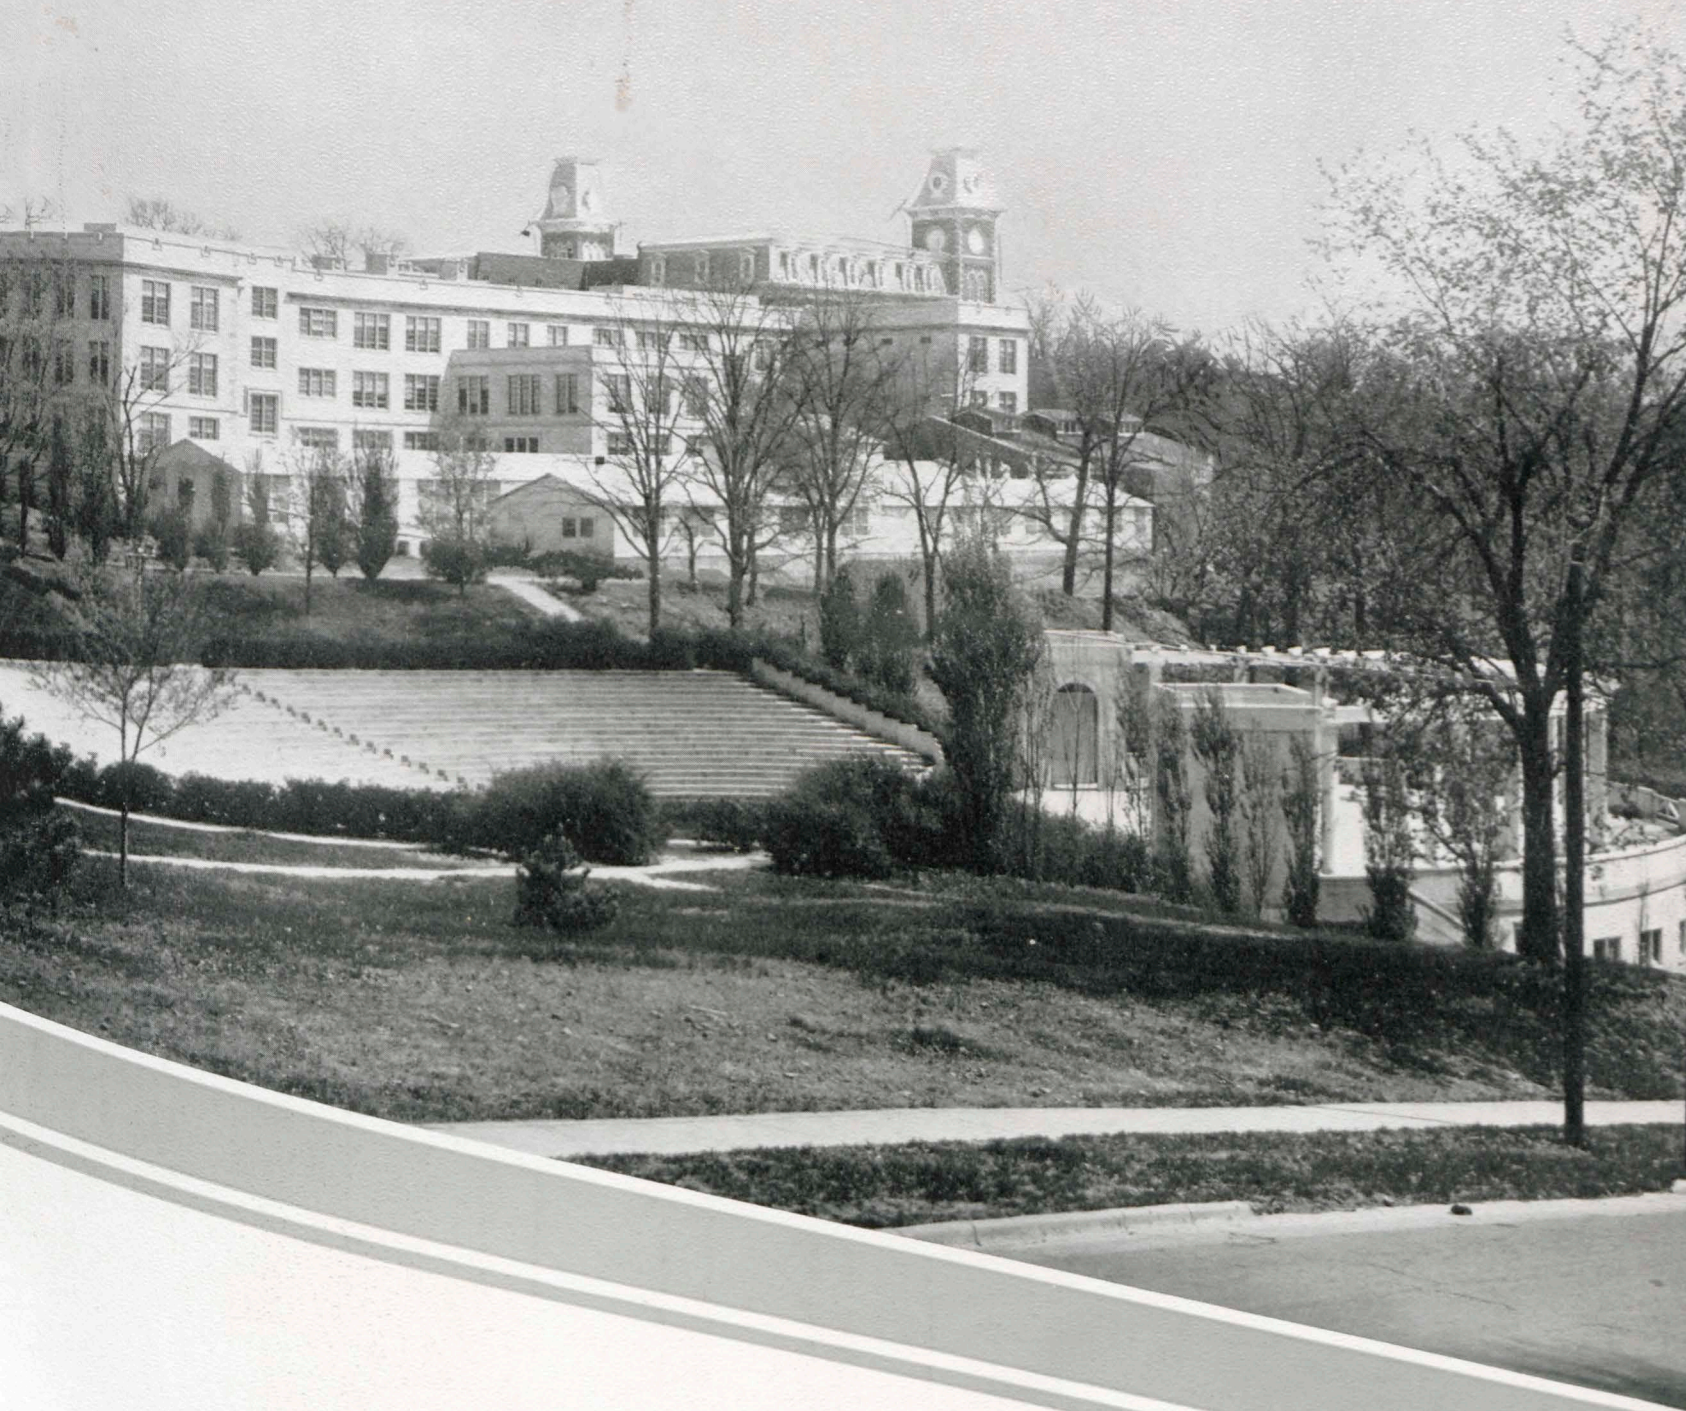

. . . by branching trees across the soft carpeting grass of the campus lend quiet and calm in the heat of the day to the gently sloping lawn. In the distance glimpses of the red brick face of Commerce Hall show through the green of the trees. Commerce Hall first built to house the school of Engineering in 1904, given over in 1927, with the growth of the university, to the school of business administration, and standing today, one of the oldest of all the college buildings. But let us walk down this curving path to the southeast of the campus. . .

TO A BUILDING OF STRENGTH

. . . which rises grey white from the grassy lawn, soiled, yet graceful, new, yet old. The Hall of Engineering seems to typify the very strength for which it exists. Through a Roman doorway one can see the dim interior of the building haunted by machinery, weights and scales, and all the paraphernalia that goes to make up the life of an engineer. Doorways, arches, windows, stairs, it stands, perhaps with no long history, no ivy-grown tradition, but nevertheless as a monument to the conclusion of a long fight for new and better buildings which ended only in 1927. And with that year came the first great step forward in the realization of the dream of a plan for a greater and better university.

But again, we must hurry on. Let us go up Dickson avenue to the west side of the campus at the top of the hill and get a new view of the campus.

. . . . rise the campus buildings, white of "chemistry" against the red of "old main." Representatives of a newer culture above a memorial to Greek culture, the mother of higher learning. Here we look down from the top of Dickson hill, across the southwest corner of the campus toward the twin towers of University Hall high above the Chi Omega Memorial Greek theatre in its natural bowl.

To the north we can circle the tiers of seats of the theatre and following the walk by the athletic field turn eastward past the front of the new Chemistry Hall.

WE WALK PAST

. . . the "dorm," and to our right we see the turreted entrance to the huge new chemistry building. Beneath a gothic arch the bronze doors are dull gold in the shadowy white of the entrance. Students from classes in chemistry and zoology pass us, changing classes. To our left is the library and once again we turn up the walk between "old main" and the front of the building of books.

WHITE COLUMNS

. . . lending dignity and grace to the wide-winged library building, above us as we swing up the wide walk and broad steps that lead to the entrance of the library. From the brilliant white of the outside we once more pass into the interior, cool and quiet. Up the stairs we go and, to the right, see through wide arching doorways the high roofed main room with its wide loan desk over which pass thousands of books each year.

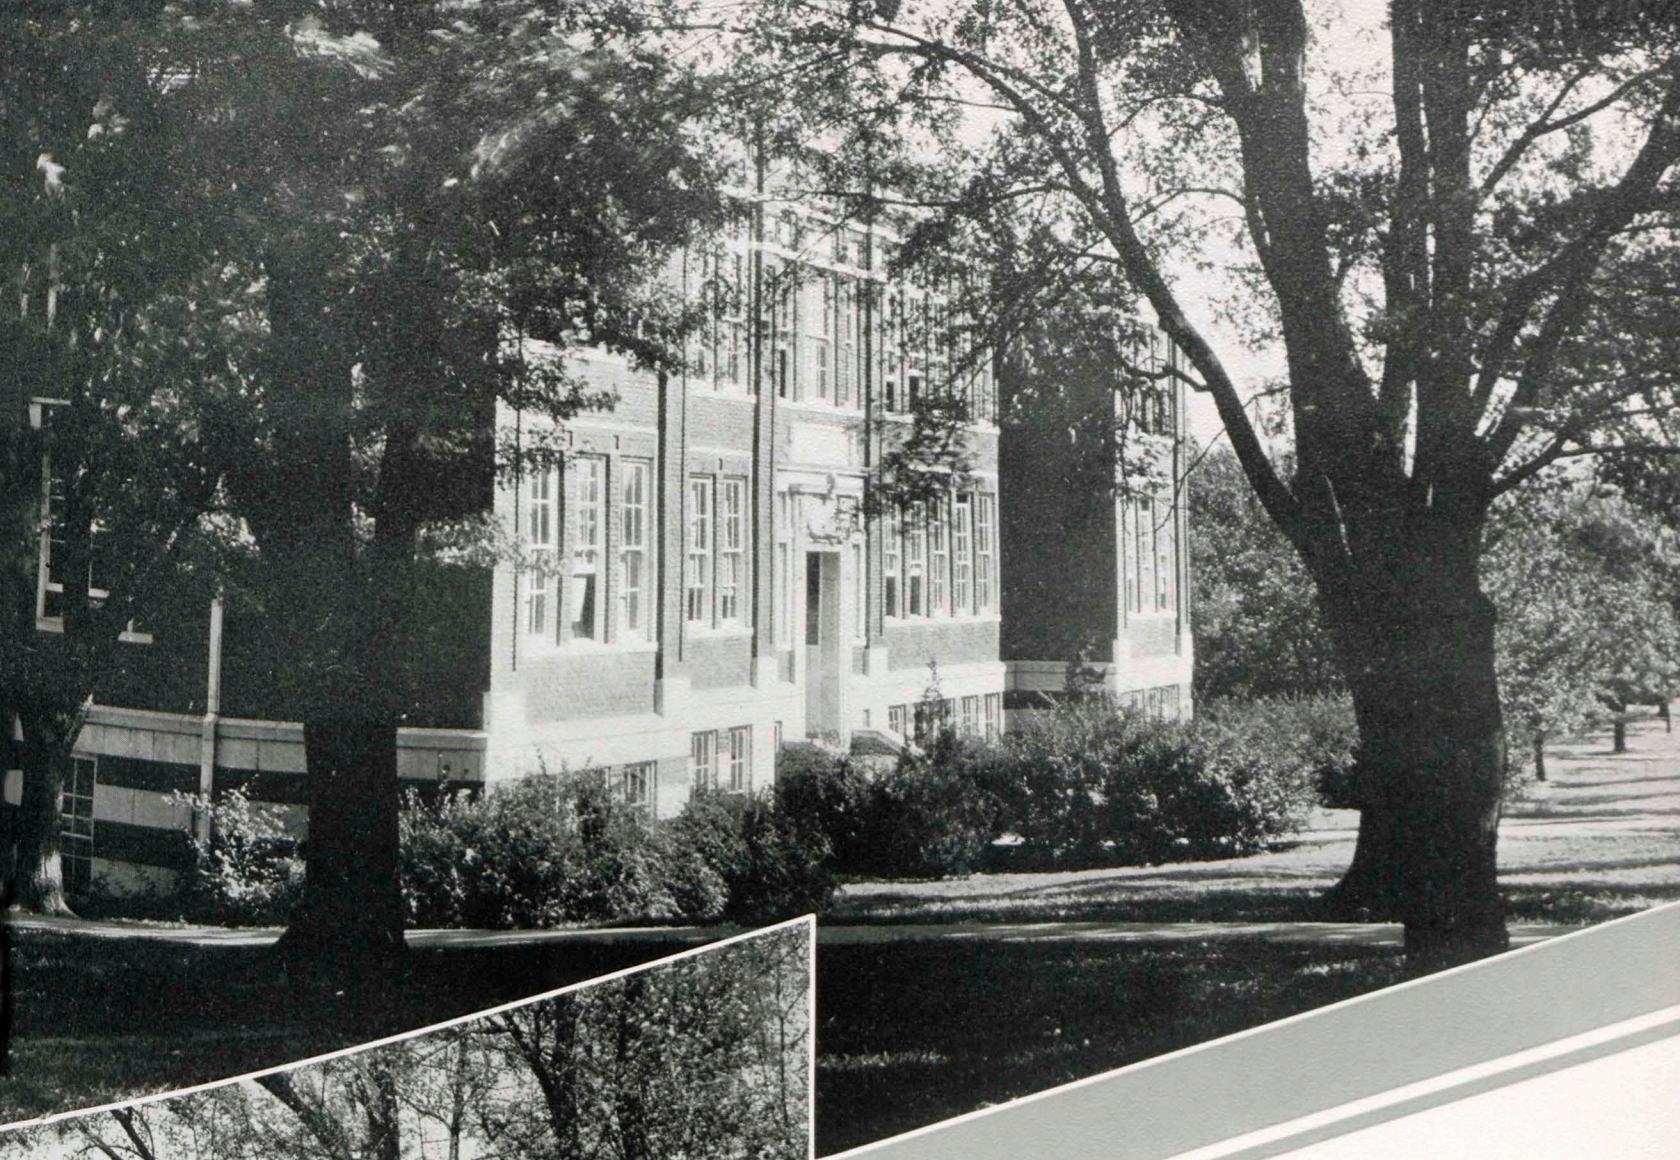

CURVING WALKS

. . . . lead us away from the library as we continue our way northward toward the cafeteria. On our way we pass the "agri" building, twin of the Hall of Engineering. There to the left we can see the towers that guard its south entrance. From the shadows of the cafeteria porch we turn and again see, as we retrace our steps southward the omnipresent north tower of University Hall, rising even above its twin. But we turn left and again pass the Hall this time to the north.

SUNLIT BUILDINGS

. . . there on our left and ahead of us are the tree shaded, leaf bordered Law Building and Peabody Hall. The law building has a long history, at first, for many years, as the home of the chemistry department and only beginning last year with the movement of chemistry into its new quarters as a remodeled school of law. Peabody Hall, red brick, trimmed in gleaming white stone, houses the college of education and the practice school, where would-be teachers learn their trade.

On we go, past Peabody to the broad lawn that gently slopes toward the east, down to Arkansas avenue.

AND THERE STANDS OLD MAIN

. . . silhouetted against the sky, its old towers rising weathered and ivy-covered above the lacy tops of the trees that dot the campus far below. Behind us it rises as we turn for one last look, University Hall, "old main," center of the university, center of the campus, towering over the other buildings like some aged, hoary patriarch who stands, perhaps not beautiful, not the best, still, upheld by tradition and the very fact of age, a reminder, a heart and soul of the school.

And so with this last view we leave the university. We have not visited every corner of the campus, we have not seen every building nor traced every tradition, rather we have taken a cursory glance at the school as a whole and as we have followed its walks have tried to paint in a little more brilliant colors than the camera can produce a bit of the living, breathing whole for which each building holds a part. Now as we leave remember but this, that it is not so much what we see or learn or believe at the present that really counts, but the memory of things long after that really holds the secret of true and inward happiness.

CHIEF EXECUTIVE: . . THE PRESIDENT

WHO IS THIS MAN?

Surely you know him, this man who "can keep his head when all about him are losing theirs," who welcomed his destiny not as a dark and heavy fate but as a bountiful opportunity; who found a nation ridden with fear and brought it through to new confidence;

—Who summons courage equal to the hour, either to close the banks or to cross good souls by offering beer to thirsty White House guests; who lashes out at his enemies with hard scorn yet whose heart melts when he sees a lonely young girl at her first East Room party and tells her, by his order, to command the most handsome young man on the adjoining terrace to waltz with her;

—Who speaks before throngs with such seeming assurance yet whose hand, we see, trembles while he waits out the long applause; who stands with dignity before the world, yet who as a kindly host draws a familiar, crumpled pack of cigarettes from his pocket and with apologies, offers them to the lady on his left, even as you and I.

—Who lives with human warmth in a thousand flashing moments, on and off the national stage, as scenes come tumbling into memory. . . visiting, on the eve of his first inauguration, an obscure shop in New York to ask an old negro to come with him to Hyde Park and pack his beloved ship prints for the journey to Washington . . . winding through crowds which press about his slowly moving automobile with their echoing murmur, "I almost touched him". . . back from a Pacific cruise, leaning, tanned and smiling, on the bridge of the Cruiser Houston, sighting a Harvard classmate of thirty years ago and calling out as one old grad to another, "Hello, Curtis. Class of 1904" . . . pausing during a speech from the rear platform of his train to explain, "I'll have to wait a minute; there's a grand kid fight going on down here" . . . reluctantly revealing his election guesses in which he grossly underestimated his own popularity . . . laughingly arguing with his staff that he could make a better campaign against himself than his opponent does, because he knows his own weaknesses . . . driving for hours in an open automobile under a drenching rain and dismissing it as a trifle with the remark, "I don't mind having my shoes full of water, but I don't like to sit in a bathtub with my clothes on" . . . solicitous over the poor, careworn fellow on the curb in Philadelphia who, in a gesture of gratitude, tosses his watch into the automobile; imploring the police to find the man and return it.

—Who, born in luxury, linked by family to ten presidents, has made himself the champion of forgotten men and women, using his talents as was said of Benjamin Franklin, in an attempt to subdue the ugly facts of society to some more rational scheme of things; concerned not so much that the rich shall sleep peacefully in their beds but that everyone shall have a bed in which to sleep.

HE ACTS AS ADVISER TO MEN

DEAN RIPLEY

For the last fourteen years Dean G. E. Ripley has had charge of men students of the University of Arkansas. In that time he has acted not only as adviser to the men but also as instructor in physics and as chairman of the Board of Publications.

As Dean of Men he has helped in the formulation and enforcement of student regulations governing undergraduates. His control extends over every phase of student life and he works with men from every school and college in the university. It is his aim to maintain the morale and unity of the school as a whole, as well as to look after the welfare of the male portion of the student body.

Also, in his position as chairman of the Board of Publications, it has been his duty to guide the course of the student newspaper, the Traveler, and of the RAZORBACK. He has presided over meetings of this board and has, in case of tie decisions of the board, had the final vote. Through this work he has helped to choose students capable of holding publication offices and to oversee the course of these publications.

In his work he is constantly in touch with students of the university and every student is at least indirectly influenced by the dean. He is a strict but understanding disciplinarian and has attempted through his work to encourage and to order the thousand or so male students of the University of Arkansas in such a way as to make better men and a greater school.

AND TO HER TURN THE WOMEN

The social functions of the campus are numerous and of several varieties, but behind all of them stands the approval of the office of the Dean of Women. Any social function which lacks the stamp of approval can only be a failure, because without that approval the women students of the University may not attend. By virtue of her office, Dean Reid carries the "big stick" in undergraduate social affairs.

The Dean of Women has a three-fold duty in the performance of the duties of her office; the social, academic, and administrative phases encompass the whole existence of the woman student, and in each of these phases of University life, she is under the guidance and control of Dean Reid.

The Dean of Women does not seek to place burdensome restrictions, which will not be obeyed, on the University women, but by appealing to the intelligence and common sense, advice is given to those who need to make adjustments in their academic careers. By acting largely in an advisory capacity, Dean Reid has been able to make the office more popular than such offices are in schools where the individual is considered less as an individual than as merely another student.

In an academic way, not only is Dean Reid an associate professor of Latin, but also she is an advocate of the classic education based on mathematics, Latin, and English. She advocates an education including these subjects, not because the cultural education benefits the intelligent woman more than most vocational training is likely to do, and with the cultural background, much of the unrest of the present day is apt to be less alarming and revolutionary than it otherwise would be. From the light of the past we can look into the future and understand the significance of the new ideas as they are presented to us.

The Student Senate, representing all classes of the University and forever seeking to wield the scepter among student affairs, has had little success along these lines until this year. However, with the advent of Jim Lee Howell into the role of President the usually silent Senate chamber was aroused and forced into some semblance of action. A bi-weekly newspaper was instituted and several useless and tattered constitutions of the horse and buggy days were buried in effigy, as it were, and a new and valuable constitution written. The Senate also witnessed some vicious oratory over a dance date in one of its "teapot tempest" meetings, but eventually arbitrated the affair. During the Spring election the Senate was filibustered over an argument concerning the eligibility of candidates in the race for vice-president of the students.

The Association is a member of the Midwest Student Conference and of the National Student Federation of America, and is represented annually at both conventions.

Politics in the spring come under the direct supervision of the Student Senate.

Student dances in 1936-37 were operated for the eighth year under the supervision of the Student Social Committee. Conduct at dances, orchestras, finances, arrangement of student dance dates, and all other details are left in the hands of the committee which was appointed by Jim Lee Howell at the beginning of the school year.

As regards dates for dances, the committee has made some attempt to work in co-operation with fraternities, sororities, and other groups, but failed a a certain extent this year to satisfy the desires of certain organizations, namely, Chi Omega, Sigma Chi, Alpha Kappa Psi, and Theta Tau. Chi Omega and Sigma Chi squared off charging Alpha Kappa Psi and Theta Tau of having been shown preference in the awarding of dance dates. The affair was taken to the Senate, but was actually arbitrated by President Futrall and Dean Ripley. The Chios took a date in the 28 day law, and the Sigma Chis were allowed to go to Bella Vista to have their dance. Later President Futrall decided against this.

During a year of heated and bitter arguments, Paul Latture had a difficult assignment in presenting the right dances at the right time in the season allowed for dances by the University.

The Carnall Hall Governing Board, composed of representatives of each class, endeavors to promote a feeling of goodwill, fellowship, and loyalty to the ideals of the University.

Duties of the board are manifold. It has the responsibility of staging dances, open-houses, and other social events. It prevents unnecessary noise, and punishes all infractions of the dormitory rules.

In reality the foregoing run second to the forming of political policy for Carnall Hall. The board meets secretly in the Spring to decide their move in the all-important issue of politics on the campus.

At times open meetings are held in which all the girls gather in the parlor and discuss the various problems which confront the inmates of the dormitory.

ARTS AND SCIENCES

VIRGIL L. JONES, DEAN

No more conclusive proof of the real value of a liberal arts college could be found than that offered in the position of the College of Arts and Sciences in the University of Arkansas today. The university was originally established, not as a cultural institution, but as a technical school. Only through its own worth has the arts college risen, and only because of intelligent leadership has it retained its high place. Inspired by a faith in the worth of a liberal education as the greatest safeguard of democracy, Dean Jones has worked always for freedom of thought and a spirit of intellectual freedom, the essence of such a college.

"If the opportunity for free, human and individual development is to be denied the born leaders of democracy, the colleges of liberal arts and democracy will alike perish from America." That is the challenge Dean Jones offers the students of today.

All is not sunlight and peaceful walks at the university; there are classes, labs, and examinations. In no other single college is there such a variety of classes as in the College of Arts and Sciences. Lecture classes call for attention and careful study, and there are examinations to catch the unwary. The Traveler, independent student newspaper, gives school news and a chance for real journalistic experience. Art, music, the fine arts, add to the students background of cultural training training to augment teaching in the science courses in chemistry and zoology. Fine laboratories and excellent training go hand in hand to give to the student a truly liberal education. Nerve centers of the college are the official bulletin boards where notices of new rulings, grade averages, school programs, in fact all the store of announcements that are the life of any school, are posted. All these things and many more go to make up the school life of the student in the College of Arts and Sciences.

J. S. WATERMAN, DEAN

One more step in the rapid expansion of the School of Law came last year with its movement into new quarters in a building of its own. In thirteen years, under the guidance of Dean J. S. Waterman, it has grown from a school of only fourteen students to one of more than one hundred. Early in its existence it proved its competence; a fact recognized by the admission of graduates of the school to the practice of law in the state without taking the bar examination. Since that time it has continued to advance in material and method.

And along with this academic growth Dean Waterman has encouraged an increasing interest in both the legislature and judiciary of the state as a whole. He has given instruction in procedure before the legislature and has helped in the drafting of many state laws. Close touch has also been maintained with lawyers in Arkansas and the school has offered them valuable service.

When the School of Law moved, last year, from the basement of University Hall to its new building, the lawyers acquired a basement of their own in which to gather for discussion and debate. Here they may "bull" to their hearts content, free from the hazard of strolling students that made the basement of "Old Main" so crowded. On the second floor is the big law library, covering one whole floor of the building and containing over twelve thousand volumes. Here law students study, amid stacks of books, to the tune of portable typewriters. Women as well as men here prepare themselves for the practice of law. Downstairs are new, large, well-equipped classrooms and conference rooms where formal training is given, based on the case system of study. Law clubs are also conducted by the law school faculty. In all courses special attention is paid to Arkansas statutes, decisions, and code of civil procedure. Thus, far into the night, law students pore over their books in the brightly lighted library.

BUSINESS

C. C. FICHTNER, DEAN

"The School of Business Administration sets as its first obligation the training of good citizens who will be motivated by a deep sense of social responsibility and capable of prudent business leadership." That is the aim set by Dean C. C. Fichtner. To accomplish this he has encouraged training in sound economic thought and administrative methods. Courses are offered both in general business practice and economics and in specialized branches of study, but in all its courses the school seeks to give an understanding of sound business principles and to support individual initiative.

Only through this thorough education of future business executives, Dean Fichtner believes, can the economic system on which our nation is founded be saved from disaster. Government control offers no true solution. It is to this training that he has dedicated himself and the school which he heads.

In Commerce Hall are the quiet rooms which house the classes of both would-be magnates and future bookkeepers. Here students learn the basic principles of economics and general business as well as the operation of such specialized branches as insurance, accounting, sales management, industrial management, advertising, merchandising, and statistics. Besides its regular classrooms the School of Business Administration has a large accounting laboratory and a statistics laboratory fitted with calculating machines, and a seminar room where about a hundred business periodicals are always available to students. In the corridors students gather to discuss school and business affairs, to read notices on the bulletin board, to see yesterday's test paper, or just to have a minute's chat before class starts. Then to class where they learn from practical men the methods of practical business.

ENGINEERING

G. P. STOCKER, DEAN

"The College of Engineering has for its major object the development of the faculty of sound judgment based on a thorough analysis of facts and on straight thinking. It strives to train men for leadership in the industries and for professional engineering without losing sight of the main object of a college education—the training for good citizenship." That is the aim of the college of engineering as set by Dean G. P. Stocker.

The prospects for a successful career in Engineering were never brighter than at the present time. The calls for young engineers this year have far exceeded those of any year in the recent past. The remuneration, too, has materially increased.

The College of Engineering is well equipped for training men in fundamentals. Its laboratories are supplied with the best available equipment and furnish opportunities for undergraduate study excelled by none of the neighboring states. The employment of its graduates by The General Electric Company, Proctor and Gamble Co., and industries of such magnitude, indicates that in a measure, at least, it is accomplishing its purpose, that of developing men destined to be leaders in industry.

Strange machinery, the stock in trade of the engineer, fills the basement of the Hall of Engineering. Here students work over steam engines and huge Diesels amid a tangle of pipes. Great hammers test the strength of materials and delicate scales measure infinitesimal weights while close by other scales are capable of weighing great loads. Electrical panels, tangles of switches and twining cables rise amid a crowd of generators, motors, and transformers. Even in classrooms weird formulas and complicated apparatus confuse the visiting layman. But beneath all this is a foundation of hard work in mathematics, physics, and mechanical drawing that means long hours of good hard work with little romance about it. For the College of Engineering bases its curriculum on the belief that its duty is to train its students in such a way that they may succeed in any line of endeavor in which accurate calculations and correct reasoning are required.

AGRICULTURE

DAN T. GRAY, DEAN

Agricultural research and extension activities as well as actual resident student training fall to the College of Agriculture. In a farming state such as Arkansas these services are naturally closely tied up with the interests of the people. In his position as director of both research and as dean of the college, Dean Dan T. Gray is probably the most important single link in this school-people relationship.

As dean he has developed the college into an agency for the training of extension workers. As head of extension activities he has directed the work of these agents. And as director of the research service of the school he has been instrumental in the discovery of new methods, which, distributed by college trained men and women, have resulted in a better state and a more prosperous people. But, according to Dean Gray, the school's first duty is to develop young men and women for leadership in Arkansas.

Scientific agriculture is an entirely different matter from the old hit and miss sowing and reaping of the untrained farmer. In the College of Agriculture, laboratories as fine as any in the chemistry building are used to give students practical training in truly scientific farming and to enable them to carry on research, to seek new and better methods of agriculture. Greenhouses permit studies in actual plant cultivation. The various branches of the school are too numerous to mention but a few of them are chemistry, education, agronomy, entomology, plant pathology, economics, engineering, and bacteriology. Practical training is not neglected either and students receive instruction in the basic principles of successful farming. In the department of home economics, which is a branch of the College of Agriculture, instruction is given in the various phases of domestic science and art. Sewing, cooking, nursing, and all that goes to make up a good housekeeper are taught.

EDUCATION

H. G. HOTZ, DEAN

While some students who plan to become teachers take much of their work in other colleges, the College of Education alone offers professional training in that field. In the curriculum of his college Dean H. G. Hotz has striven to correlate the courses of study with the work offered in other schools of the university. In this way he hopes to give practical guidance in the methods of teaching, together with a general culture and intellectual background of preparation. The school itself is founded on the principle that teaching is a field requiring expert technical service. Thus its basic purpose is to furnish professional training and to develop technical skill.

But the school offers special services as well. Its Teachers Placement Bureau has succeeded in obtaining positions for large numbers of students and alumni each year. Educational research furnishes new information for students and teachers.

At once both students and teachers are students in the College of Education who attend classes part of their time and in turn teach for the rest of their time. They are taught new and better teaching methods as well as the psychology of their pupils. The facts which they learn in these classes they apply in their own practical work in the Peabody grammar and high school which is maintained by the College of Education for the training of future teachers under actual teaching conditions. In the training school students teach classes in which they plan to work after graduation; thus, a student who expects to teach in grammar school will direct handcraft work by grade school children or teach them geography while at the same time attending school herself. Faculty members advise these young teachers and supervise their work. The school also maintains a free placement bureau for its students and graduates to help them find positions.

GRADUATES

J. C. JORDAN, DEAN

Nationally recognized as an educator and scholar, Dean J. C. Jordan has worked unceasingly during the last ten years for an ever better Graduate School and a rising standard among graduate students. He has encouraged only the best students with proven ability to go on with their college study and has attempted to aid these students, in becoming independent scholars, to add in their turn new knowledge to the store of mankind.

The aim of the Graduate School has been two-fold: It has tried to give to its students further knowledge in their chosen subjects and has worked to implant in these students something of the methods of research in order that they might carry on their studies alone. Also, through his work in the many honorary societies of which he is an active member, Dean Jordan has done much to develop a greater interest in both scholarship and wider student activities among the students of the university as a whole.

JOURNALISM

W. J. LEMKE . . .

Instruction in journalism has been offered at the University of Arkansas for many years. Until 1930 journalism was a part of the English department. Among former journalism teachers were Wainwright Evans, who collaborated with Judge Ben Lindsey in writing several books; Norman J. Radder, noted advertising authority; Murray Sheehan, novelist; Victor Portman, now at the University of Kentucky; and J. Wymond French, now a member of the journalism faculty at Indiana University.

W. J. Lemke took charge of journalism instruction here in 1928 and a separate department was organized under his direction in the fall of 1930. A former newspaper man, Mr. Lemke keeps up his newspaper contacts by writing the university publicity releases, conducting a daily column in the Fayetteville Democrat, and editing a feature in the Arkansas Gazette. Assistant Professor of journalism is J. A. Thalheimer, a graduate of Columbia University who joined the Arkansas faculty in 1930. The two journalism professors sponsor the Arkansas High School Press Association, which holds its annual meeting here each spring and which has contributed many students to the local department.

BOARD OF PUBLICATIONS

Guardian angel of student periodicals is the Board of Publications. This legislative body chooses candidates, lets contracts, rules on policies, and handles purse strings.

Four faculty members and four students constitute the group. Dean G. E. Ripley is chairman and has no vote unless a tie arises. The faculty men are W. J. Lemke and J. A. Thalheimer of the Journalism department, Dr. G. E. Hastings, English, and T. C. Carlson, business manager. New student members are appointed annually by the president of the Associated Students. This year they were Elsjane Trimble, Sarabel Roberts, Edward Stocker, and Maynard Johnson.

ELSIJANE TRIMBLE
Secretary

Each spring from the mass of applicants for staff positions, the board selects two candidates for each office to be elected by the students.

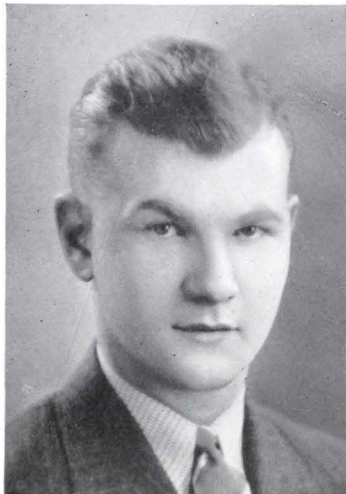

Later in the year, the body lets contracts for printing, engraving and photography for the next term's work. Selective bidding determines the firms and low cost is weighed heavily. Hence financial problems confront the board for the most part.

During the term, business managers of the publications make a monthly report to the board. This is checked to make efficient handling of accounts. The Razorback and Traveler managers report to the board. Managers of the Engineer and Agriculturist are responsible to a budget committee.

The Board of Publications determines amounts of salaries for editors and managers of the Razorback and Traveler. And the coffers are watched closely in purchasing new equipment and supplies.

Working in conjunction with the board, and appointed by President J. C. Futrall is a censoring committee. This group functions when it is deemed necessary by the board to prevent abuses against good taste, when incompetency of editors or managers is indicated by their work, and when material antagonistic to the well-being of the University is prepared. In such cases, the committee recommends measures to be taken, as in one instance, they caused an entire manuscript to be rewritten.

This 1937 RAZORBACK is dedicated to "Today at Arkansas." Modernism, featuring the element time, has been used to make a different book.

The active hours of a University day are portrayed chronologically in the feature section. And in the view section a tour of the campus is laid out.

Gray borders have been printed for ease on eyes. Surrealistic drawings illustrate main divisions and cartoons after the style of famous artists portray sub-divisions.

This is done to create a book that will bring back to memory scenes and events we will love to peruse long after we get out into "the cruel, hard world."

The RAZORBACK is a permanent advertising medium. This book will be kept and its message read for years. Merchants who have bought space in the RAZORBACK realize this.

As they have cooperated in publishing this book, students can cooperate by purchasing from advertisers.

We wish to express our appreciation for the considerations given us by these men and for the work of the staff in preparing this volume.

Usually this page is used as a vent for the business manager's feelings. It has been a "gripe column." Not so, this edition. We have nothing but good wishes to write.

This year's Traveler has not always been the voice of the students.

There are times when it is the function of the newspaper to lead, or even to oppose the general sentiment of the readers, as long as that newspaper truly thinks it is acting in the interest of those readers.

Upon such a tenet the editors have endeavored to publish your newspaper. They have tried to show judicious independence, and when they considered the acts or opinions of student or faculty member to be detrimental to student interest they have said so.

In the light of such independence, the Traveler has been completely free from administrative interference, or any action resembling censorship. That freedom promises to continue as long as Traveler editors temper vigor with judgment.

For that liberty I am grateful, as I am also for the help of an able staff. The staff has been selected for its ability and industry. It has contained no loafers.

The Arkansas Agriculturist is a magazine published monthly by the students of the College of Agriculture. Its staff is chosen by the vote of the student body of that college, and the administration of the magazine is in the hands of the agricultural students.

Dean Dan T. Gray sometimes contributes to the Agriculturist as do other leading agricultural experts in the state. Both general and technical news items appear in its columns each month which are of interest to farmers and agricultural workers of the state as well as to the students.

The Agriculturist not only serves the students of the College of Agriculture, but is sent to all colleges and leading high schools of the state in exchange for other magazines. It is also sent to farmers and agricultural workers throughout the state, since many of its articles are of a technical nature which tend to benefit of agriculture in Arkansas.

The business staff is concerned with matters of advertising, circulation, and general financial welfare of the magazine. A special issue is prepared each year as a feature of Agri Day

The Arkansas Engineer, official publication of the University of Arkansas College of Engineering, is the oldest of the individual college journals. It was inaugurated in 1920.

The Engineer is issued quarterly for distribution to all students of the college and to people over the state who follow the activities of the University Engineering School. It is conducted by a staff of Engineering students, with W. B. Stelzner and W. R. Spencer as faculty advisers.

Features of the journal include articles by students and professors, alumni news, editorials, and announcements. Each year on Engineer's Day an especially elaborate edition is published.

The Arkansas Engineer is now a member of the Engineering College Magazines Association. This body accepted our magazine as a member at its fourteenth annual convention held at Rose Polytechnic Institute, Terre Haute, Indiana, on October 16, 1934. The recognition thus accorded us put the Engineer into a class of the leading college engineering publications throughout the country.

The E. C. M. A. is an association of 21 established magazines, organized to develop better engineering college magazines, especially the right in securing more and better advertising. In order to carry out these objectives, especially to make the engineering college magazine a more attractive advertising medium to the national advertisers, a set of standards were adopted, and are: Limiting the member magazines to the size of 12 pages, requiring greater regularity in issuing the magazines, and demanding greater editorial exactness.

ALL IN A DAY

8 TO 10 A. M.

Burton and Hunt glance over the day's news . . . Sigma Nu's Shankle, Wilson and Sparks march glibly on to an 8 o'clock . . . Our own "big boy Hearst" out after a scoop or maybe delivering papers . . . Betty Sue fights valiantly to lead "Mother" Rand home . . . Just outside studying a bit, free from snoopy librarians . . . The ever-present Marjori rips off a ditty . . . The Scabard and Bladers go through a few routines . . . French Lewis is potential material for Ziegfeld . . . Recruit Hall raffles off a magazine to the public—a Sears-Roebuck catalog . . . Bob Stout poses with one of his buddies in the Arkansas cavalry . . . Jo Blunk, the political minded lass from Carnall Hall . . . A glance at the sports page before combing the hair . . . Chief, the most studious class attendant from the Sigma Chi house.

Dr. Hunsberger wonders just what to put in that test for the Monday morning 8 o'clock . . . Business Manager Woods forgets politics for a bit of early morning study—but only for a moment . . . "Eagle-eye" Davis blinks sleepily at the sunlight and wonders where he has seen that before . . . "Prexy" Futrall goes to school. At 8 o'clock in the morning? . . . Tom Johnston scowls over an early morning exam and wonders why he was "out to that dive" last night . . . "Tige" Wynne spreads out four aces and grins . . . Gathering in that last bit of knowledge; a study in silhouette . . . The "pause that refreshes" just before the Homecoming parade . . . A memorial to the Lambda Chi social lions, the "Sucker Chapter" . . . A pig for art's sake; a razorback in snow . . . Hinkle finally wakes up enough to make her 8 o'clock . . . The mark of the engineers on the library light . . . "The sleep and eat lodge" is personified by Pete Stanley . . . That early morning rush.

10 A. M. TO 12

Professor Dellinger looks like he had just dug up one of his skeletons . . . Engineer Laughlin kisses the blarney stone and bids the alma mater farewell . . . Waiting on the "slow train through Arkansas" . . . Chi Omegas Thompson and Makris smile at the man with the camera . . . Kappa Sigs, with the great Crumpler in the lead, pay a visit to the Tri Delt house en masse . . . "Chile" Caple takes a long shot in a marble game. It must be spring . . . Kappa Alpha's Borden and E. B. Ward advise a Pi Phi on a few points . . . Homecoming Queen James and her maids ride in state in the Homecoming Parade . . . Maurelle Pickens, in the limelight, could have been the pride of the house of Pi Phi . . . Hail! Hail! Our dates are here. Let us bid them welcome . . . Max Dollar whispers sweet nothings to dancer Helen Morgan—from a distance.

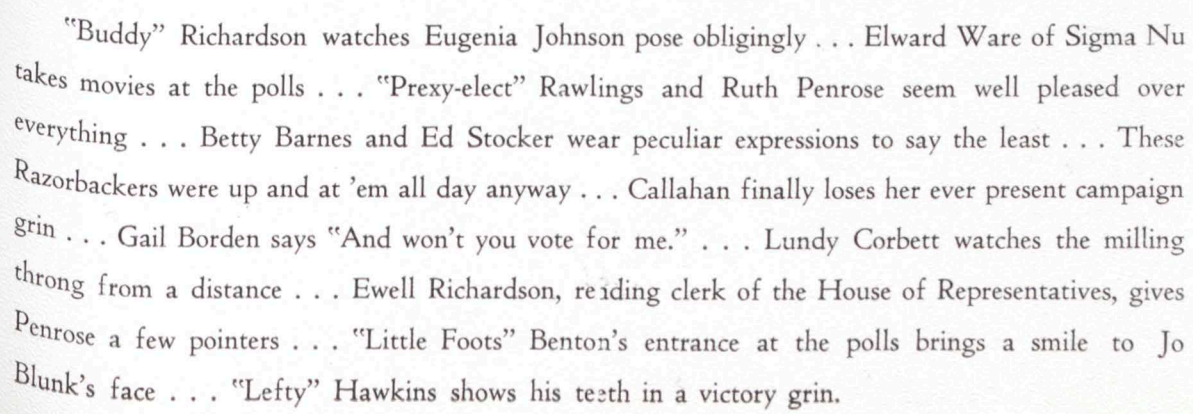

Lambda Chi Cornet eyes Rita Mark from afar while Rita eyes the camera . . . Ruth Wright gives rushees the welcoming smile . . . Dubard and Marley coming from the war in Guidon uniform . . . The agris take a little poke at the Law school along with several others . . . A group of the local young bloods discuss the "beautiful eyes", etc., while the girls do their muggin' during rush week . . . Students wait for the agri parade . . . The parade finally arrives . . . Local Loch-invars practice a proposal on a willing subject . . . The agri parade goes by . . . Theta Kappa Nu Wilcox leads his boys to the sorority "workbenches" for a workout during rush week . . . McWilliams puts on her act. Then she'll go home and tell all the girls how she can string them along . . . Dr. Cover cocks his feet up on the desk and quotes the market.

12 TO 2 P. M.

Some of the boys campaigning in the spring election . . . Batson can't even get Ashcraft out of the car to vote . . . More truth than fiction in this sign during homecoming . . . Paula Braun gets all in twitter during election. . . Pi Phi Storms says tsk! tsk! . . . If you can see her face you'll know it's "Squinch" Smith mounting the ladder . . . Mrs. Barnes must have left "hubbie" home to cook his own dinner . . . Hutch makes a guess as to how Pickens and "Cookie" will vote . . . From where these Sig Alphas have located the football game must look pretty good . . . The "Deacon" explains how it was done . . . The cadets get a good tan at Leavenworth . . . Swimmers watch "Happy" Campbell play Hercules with Betty Allis . . . Dotty Allen does well election day, but not quite well enough.

2 TO 4 P. M.

STUDIES IN EXPRESSIONS SNAPPED DURING THE FOOTBALL SEASON . . .

A spontaneous yell from the feminine section . . . Graham Merrick licks his lips while Betty Allis smiles at the game . . . Bobby Goff just can't figure out what it's all about . . . Patricia Thompson looks up into the stands . . . "Whats that?" asks Leatherman . . . Greg bites his tongue in worry . . . It looks like she's about to cry . . . All eyes follow a high pass to a touchdown . . . By Miss Batson's expression it looks bad for the men in red . . . A joke by the "Ozark Smile Boy" draws a guffaw and a chuckle . . . "Oh! boy! Oh, boy, oh boy, oh boy! Watagame!" says John Gunn . . . Jack Wyatt sticks his neck out . . . Jean Heiden can't find a seat for boy friend Storey.

Johnnie Hudspeth cheers the boys on and keeps an eye on his watch . . . S. P. E. Bylander doesn't like the downpour at Shreveport . . . Maston Jacks frowns into the sun . . . Kelly and Makris grin at the rain and Miss Finch laughs at Makris . . . Whiting must have said something pretty funny to Woodard . . . Even the musicians drop their instruments to watch a line plunge . . . McWilliams and "Poor Ole Switch" watch tensely. Ruthie shines, as usual . . . "Biggie" wonders if he is attracting as much attention as the game, while Hunt, behind dark glasses, just wonders . . . Hamp yells and squints at the game at the same time . . . Luke Brewer sees good times ahead for the cleaners while the rain pours at Shreveport . . . "Things are lookin' up". It must be a kick . . . Davis squints over a stogie.

4 TO 6 P. M.

Camerman-elect Ware gets a taste of the camera along with a couple of Chios . . . The Razor-back band does a bit of fancy drilling at a game . . . "Patty" Thompson fails to register as favorably with Lambda Chi McCanne as with the K. Z's . . . Bob Milner and Bylander dine at the Chio house dance . . . Queens Braun, Otte, DuBard, and Stacy see the Homecoming game . . . Caple turns barber to trim the Tulsa cheer leaders after Arkansas had trimmed Tulsa . . . Governor Bailey greets Frank Holt . . . Alford, Hudson, Harris, and Mullen celebrate the downfall of S. M. U. . . . A bunch of bathing beauties . . . Coach Cole imitates ex-coach Schmidt's reaction to Laforges touchdown dash in the 1933 T. C. U. game . . . Cheer leaders pep up the crowd at S. M. U. . . . Gentry flips Caple through the air with the greatest of ease . . . Keating dances cheek-to-cheek.

Mary Jett Orton stares at the camera blankly . . . Kincaid and his cigar tell bystanders all about it . . . Buster Randall, "Woody" James, and "Chubby" Watkins chat at the Pi Phi tea dance . . . Max Barron and Virginia Robinson explore the realms of science . . . The stag line looks them over at a tea dance . . . Carrie's ever present smile . . . McDaniel lights up after the S. M. U. game . . . ABC prexy Sullins and Queen James, flanked by Homecoming maids stand up before the game starts . . . "Fiery" Pond battles it out in caveman style with Blossom Roark . . . K. A. O'Neal visits the Pi Phi house after the tea dance . . . And the farmer hauled another load away —no, we don't know who he is . . . Hunt poses at the fashion show . . . Ponder is startled by the camera as he pours tea with the Chi Omegas.

6 TO 8 P. M.

Jane Grey Ridley mounts the steps with care . . . DuBard and Kelley put on the feed bag at George's . . . What you might call a sphinx-like stare—they don't seem to be on speaking terms . . . Yvonne Norman looks around in surprise just as the flash goes off . . . The way of a man and a maid in the spring, or maybe there just wasn't room on the sofa . . . On the porch "after the ball was over" . . . "Woody" James gets in a bit of early evening study at the library . . . Minnie Mae Morgan and Bob Amalia wait for the cameraman to get out with his infernal flashlight . . . Maurelle looks around the table at the Sig Alpha house. What's everybody waiting for?

Three grinning evening revelers in the Washington-Youree hotel at Shreveport . . . Three of the R. O. T. C. boys clean up before they go to town for the evening. Taken at camp at Leavenworth . . . Bud Bridgeforth merely grins and Mary Lynn Ryle ducks behind her hand as the flash goes off . . . Roark grins up at the camera from the floor because there aren't any chairs . . . Three birds come to roost . . . Members of the University Theatre practice for their puppet show in the little theatre . . . Walmsley looks blankly at Sharpe, who seems to enjoy it.

8 TO 10 P. M.

Once more the engineers celebrate St. Pat's Day with electric signs and bursting sky-rockets . . . Cadet Colonel Bissell tags in on his regimental sponsor, Ruth Bateman, at the military ball . . . Ashcraft and Bunch take it slow and easy for a change . . . Penrose thumbs through the catalog at the library in search of a new book . . . Rootin' Rubes fidget at the basketball game, getting ready to present blankets to the seniors . . . The Tri Delts' winning house-decorations for Homecoming . . . James sings "Sweet William Died for Me for Love" at the charity show . . . The walk around the floor between dances . . . Words . . . Kappa Sigs attempt to make Crumpler pose for the camera with no luck.

Betty Lou Henry seems to be keeping a careful eye on the visitors . . . Another view of the engineer's skyrocket display which ushers in St. Patrick's day . . . Reginald McCright gets in a bit of research . . . Captain Van Sickle poses with Governor Bailey on the stage . . . A couple of students do a little recreational reading . . . The usual mob of stags clutter up the floor at a student dance and watch the dancers walk round and round . . . Leo and Margie put on their famous truckin' act for the benefit of the students and relief of the flood sufferers . . . "The stags at eve had—", but you know the rest . . . Against the wall at a formal.

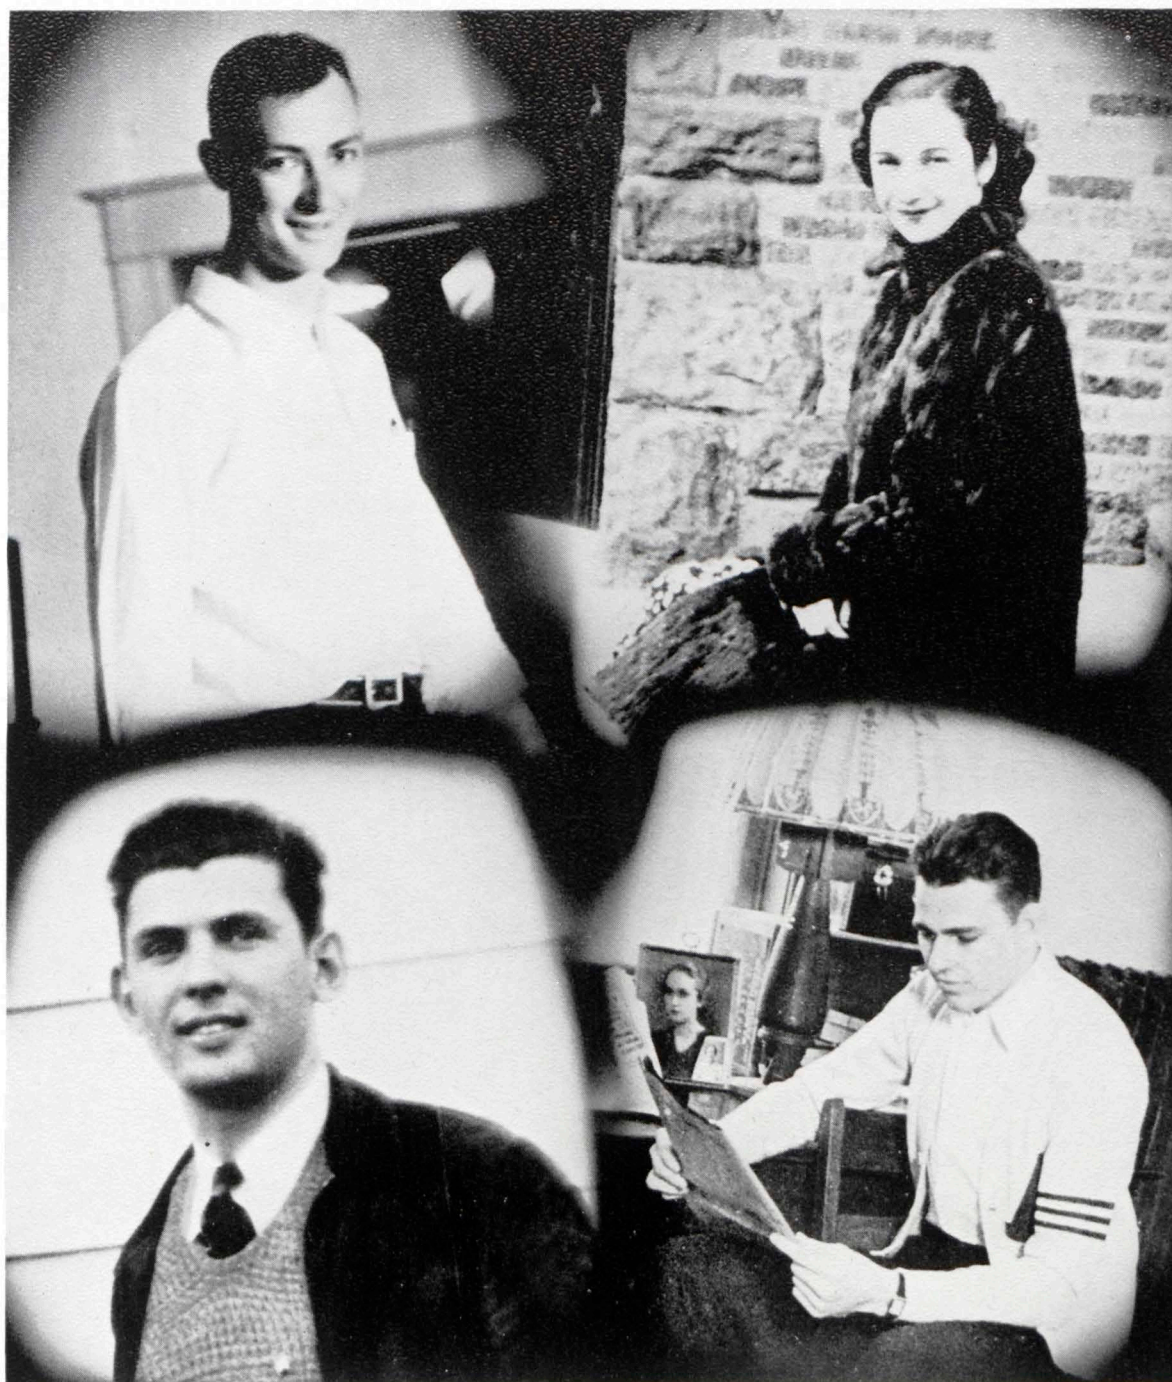

The lock on the Tri Delt door . . . "Rough Richard" William takes Storm out to eat after the formal . . . "Squinch" and Earl Wells spent a quiet moment on the Shreveport special . . . Time, late. Scene, Tri Delt house. Characters, ? . . . dancers oblingingly pose for the camera at a student dance . . . A traveler on the Shreveport special pulls her coat over her face as the flash-light goes off and interrupts her sleep . . . Pond has Hinkle on his arm at the Lambda Chi formal . . . The heating plant smoke stack gleams in the moonlight . . . "There's the camera!" . . . Kincaid practices up on a few yells on board special.

This year's Who's Who was selected by a committee of eight, with Dean G. E. Ripley as chairman. The four faculty members, Professor H. H. Strauss, Dean G. P. Stocker, Dr. D. M. Moore, and Dean Martha Reid, were appointed by the editor of the Razorback. These faculty members in turn selected the four student members to serve on the committee. The student members were Elwin Gilliland, Margaret Jacoway, Jim Lee Howell, and George Makris. These eight selected the other sixteen students named to Who's Who.

STUDENT L A W M A K E R S

These four students of the University of Arkansas were members of the 1937 state legislature. A. B. Chapman represented Ashley county; Lloyd Darnell, Phillips county; Fred Jones, Montgomery county; and Bob Wood, Izard county. This quartet was active in the deliberations of the General Assembly and was responsible for a number of bills introduced during the session.

FRED C. THOMSEN
Head Coach

Braintrusters are these exponents of muscle, might and main. Head Coach Thomsen, Great Dane of Nebraska, has pushed Porkers more years than any other coach. Superstitious about red jerseys causing losses, Tommy changed to white. He carries a buckeye in his pocket for luck. Line and Basketball Coach Rose formerly was a star athlete at Arkansas before making advice-giving his life work. Clean sport, Rose plasters office and dressing room with literary quotations. Another Ex-Razorback, Frosh Coach Cole gives yearlings their under-varsity experience. He furnishes cannon fodder for practice, builds stars for play.

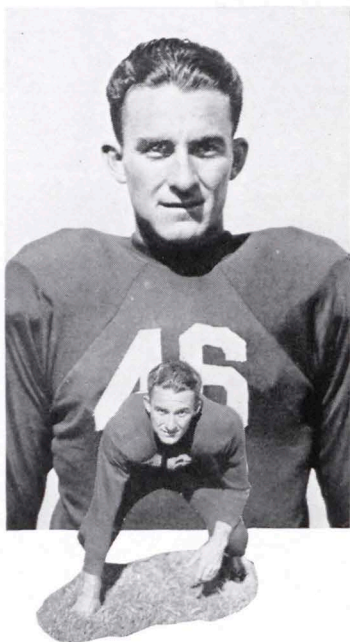

Indelible records in Arkansas football history wrote the men on the following pages. They are: Senior guard Percy Sanders; Junior halfback Jack Robbins, All-Conference, second team All-American; Senior fullback Vann Brown; Senior halfback Allen Keen; Senior center Ken Lunday; Junior end Jim Benton, All-Conference, second team All American.

HAIL TO THE SOUTHWEST CHAMPIONS

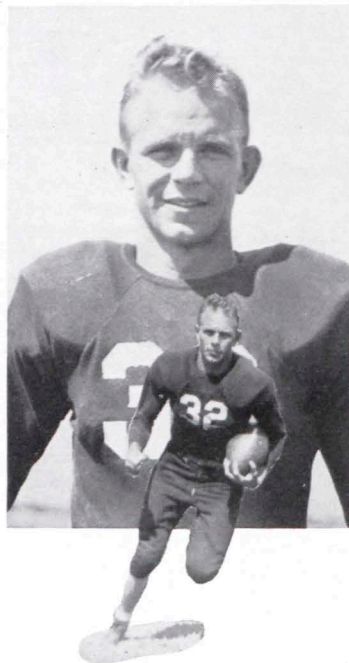

AND TO CAPTAINS VAN SICKLE AND MARTIN

CLIFFORD VAN SICKLE
Captain

Weight—192; Height 6 ft., 4 in.
Home—Morris, Oklahoma

Under the leadership of this rangy tackle the Razorbacks have acquired their first undisputed Southwest conference championship. Coolness is an integral part of Van Sickle's makeup and he has proven the ideal leader through a difficult campaign.

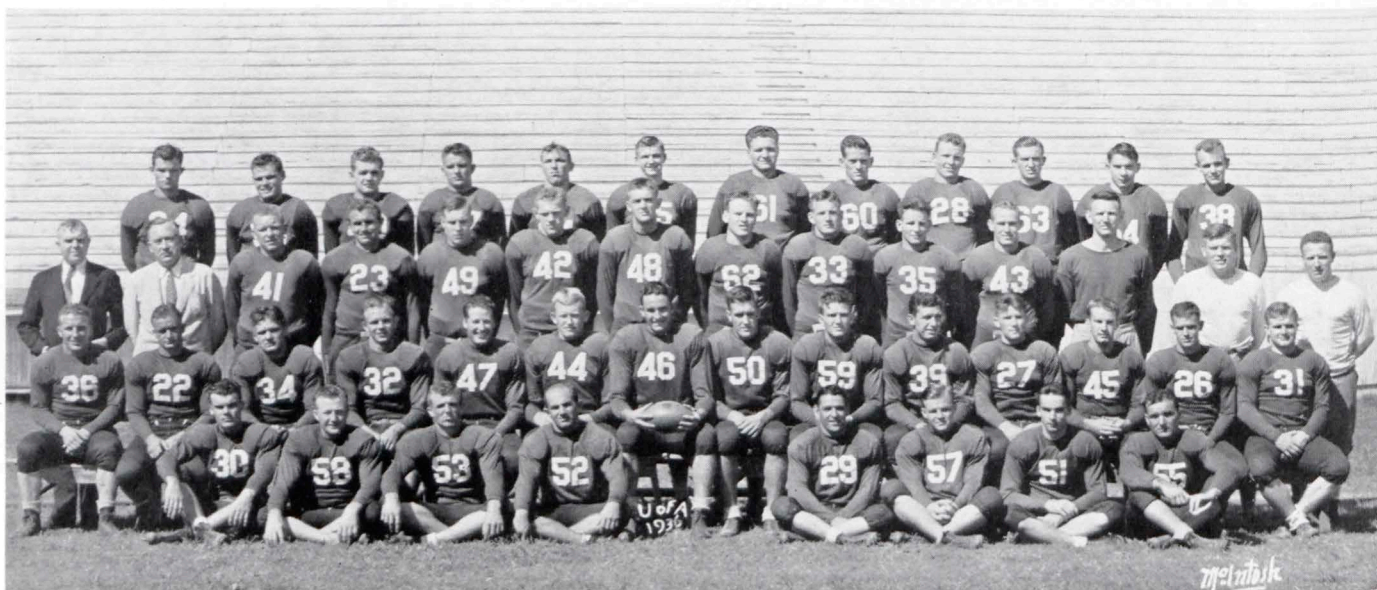

BOBBIE MARTIN
Sub-captain

Weight—170; Height 6 ft., 1 in.
Home—Texarkana, Arkansas

One of the most likable men ever to don a Razorback jersey, Bobbie Martin for two years played the role of the unheralded but necessary blocker. During the last half of this season, Bobbie came into his own as a sterling ball carrier.

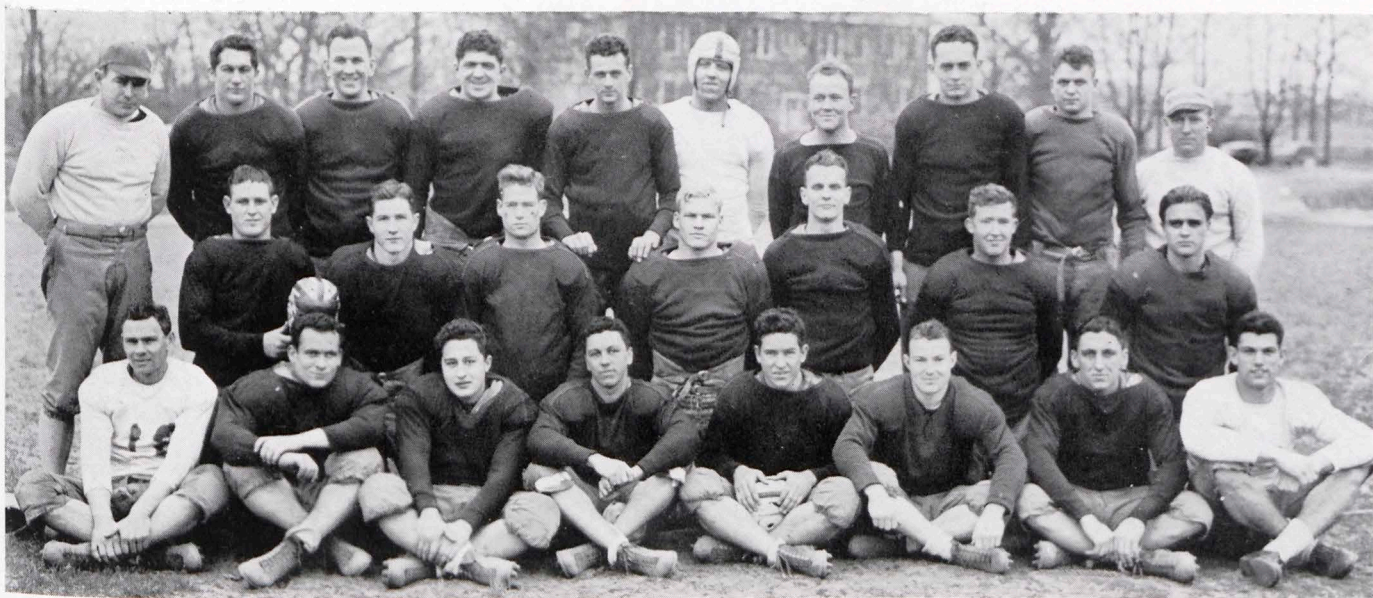

Champions were the 1936 Razorback footballers, twice tops, once only however crowned kings. Champions in two ways: first place in the Southwest Conference, and the "passingest team in the nation." This title was first given the Arkansans when they out-tossed Southern Methodist's aerial circus as it flew to Rose Bowl fame last year. The title was used anew early in the 1936 season, taken up by the nation's sports writers. Uncanny passers were the Green Bay Packers, champs of the National Professional Football League, but they failed to approach Arkansas' record. In the ten games played in the 1936 campaign, the Razorbacks threw 284 passes, completing 124 for 1,432 yards. That's an average of 28.4 passes per game with 12.4 completions for 143.2 yards per afternoon.

VARSITY SQUAD

All all-around season was frosh football. The Yearlings, playing their conference limit, won one, tied one, lost one. First game was played at Will Rogers' hometown, Claremore, Okla. The Pigs lost to Oklahoma Military Academy 6 to 0. Second tussle was a head-buster. Tulsa University's freshmen came over in our yard to play around a bit. We didn't get anywhere with them, so the score read 0 to 0. Then the Porkers went Indian scalping. Bacone redskins bit the dust in the Pig pen 20 to 0.

RAYMOND SPILLERS
Tackle

Weight—175; Height 5 ft., 10 in.
Home—Van Buren, Arkansas

The past season was Spiller's third and last year of varsity play. He has three letters to show for his work. A hard, fast charging giant, Spillers has been a valuable man to the squad.

DWIGHT SLOAN
Back

Weight—175; Height 5 ft., 10 in.
Home—Van Buren, Arkansas

Passer of deadly accuracy under any kind of weather conditions, Sloan's ability to come through in the crucial moment has been a big factor in the pennant winning march of the Razorbacks. Remember Baylor and Texas?

ARKANSAS 53

KANSAS TEACHERS . . . 0

HOME, SEPT. 26

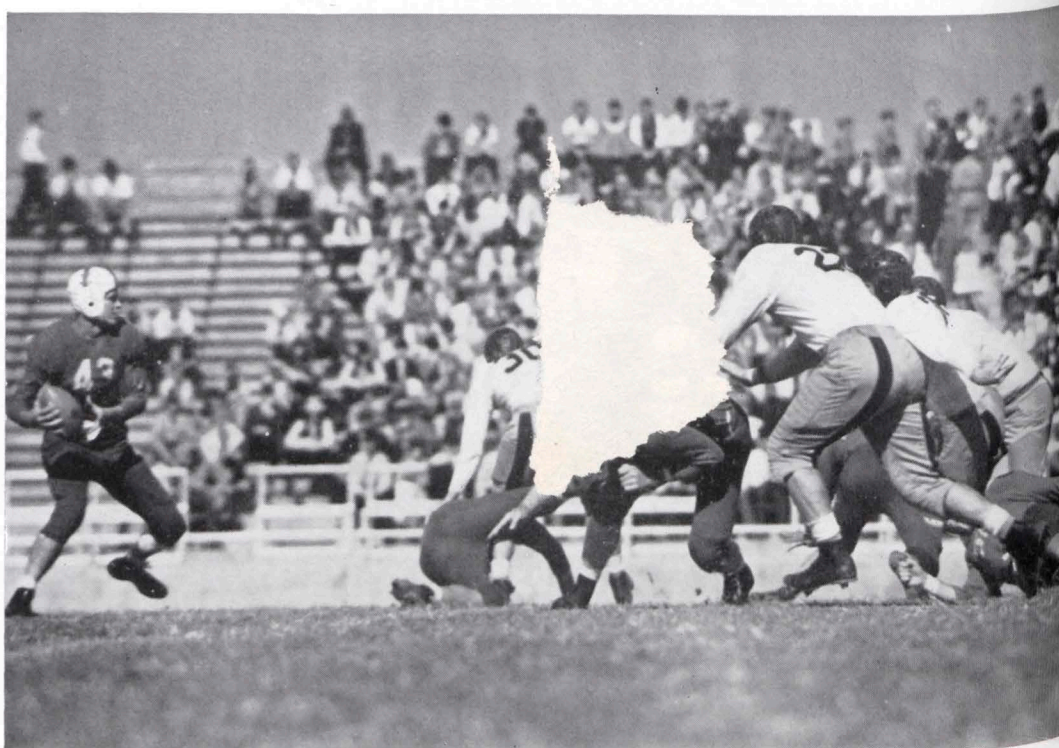

Rain didn't make their game all wet. It just slicked the football enough to slide into pass receivers arms. So the Razorbacks kept the ball most of the time, threw it around the lot to give the Pittsburg, Kan., Gorillas the agony circle of a 53 to 0 score. A bruised knee kept Jack Robbins out. But the Porkers threw 31 passes, completed 11 for 226 yards. Although Fahrnbruch's kicking was sensational, Arkansas ran the ball out easily. Highlight of the tussle was Ralph Rawlings' 28-yard dash for a tally. Touchdowns: Rawlings, three, Hunter, two; Sloan, Keen, Benton. Extra points: Sloan, three; Owen, two. First downs: Arkansas 25; Teachers, two.

ARKANSAS 14

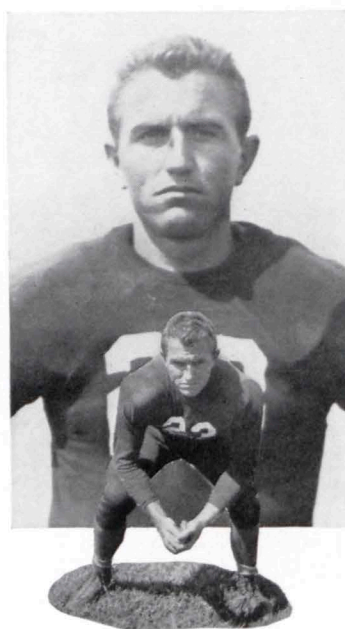

T. C. U. 18

FORT WORTH, OCT. 3

"A record!" gasped press box sages that warm afternoon in Texas when pass statistics were compiled after a Horned Frog victory of 18 to 14. Never challenged was that record. Seventy-one passes in 60 minutes' worth of pigskin parading occurred. And the terrifically touted "Slingin' Sammie" Baugh tossed 30, connected with 12. "Handsome Jack" Robbins flipped 31, got 18 connected. Frogs beat Hogs in yardage, however, TCU totaling 183 while the Arkansans got 154. Highlight was the deceptive unexpected signal called when Arkansas was backed behind the goal. The boys huddled. Holt dropped back. "Punt!" somebody yelled. But Holt didn't kick. He passed. Benton caught it, lateraled to Keen, who snake-hipped to the 50 yard line. Touchdowns: TCU—Wilkinson, Roberts, Montgomery. Arkansas—Benton, Rawlings. Extra points: Owen, two.

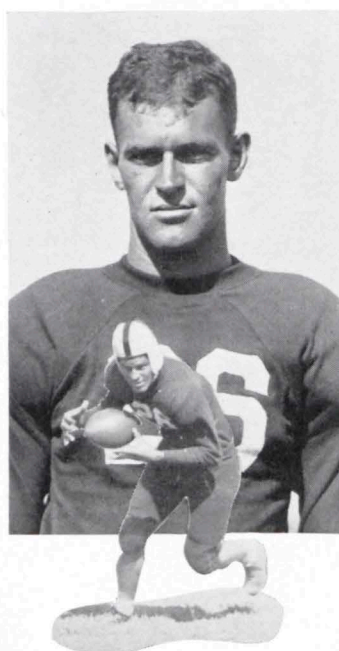

Robbins, screened by blockers, completes pass to Benton.

MARION FLETCHER
Back

Weight—205; Height—6 ft., 2 in.;
Home—Hamburg, Arkansas

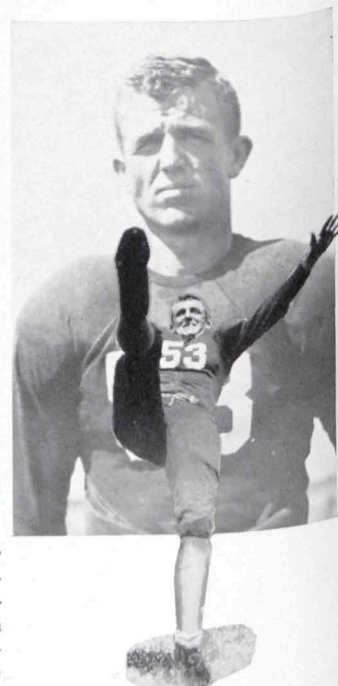

Fletche's first season of varsity play was commendable. Big and with plenty of speed, he seems to have the physical requirements for a great fullback. All he needs is experience, and 1937 should be his big year.

RALPH RAWLINGS
Back

Weight—165; Height 5 ft., 11 in.;
Home—Waldron, Arkansas

This speedy, hardrunning, shifty little back ranked high among conference scorers. A fine pass receiver, he was an important cog in the Razorback aerial attack. His all-around ability has made him the student body's choice for their president.

LLOYD MONTGOMERY
Back

Weight—183; Height 6 ft.;
Home—Bauxite, Arkansas

Montgomery's first season of varsity play has labeled him as one of the most promising triple-threat backs that the Southwest has ever seen. Speed, weight, and deception are combined in this pride of Bauxite.

Benton leaps to block Baugh's bullet pass.

ARKANSAS 14

BAYLOR 10

HOME, OCT. 10

Frenzied were spectators who watched a losing team turn on power in final minutes to beat Baylor 14 to 10. Arkansas spotted the Bears a 10 to 0 lead for over three quarters, then came to life with a bang—and at the bang—of the final gun. Good work did Robbins' passing twin, Dwight "Paddlefoot" Sloan. He tossed both touchdowns, one to Hamilton, who lateraled to Rawlings; and one to Benton after he had raced 45 yards on a sweeping end run—the highlight. Russell passed to Gernand for Baylor's touchdown. Again scored the Bears when Gernand caught Russell's 40-yard pass, carried to Arkansas' five stripe. The Hogs held. Gernand booted a field goal. Passing failed to be outstanding. Baylor tried 16, completed five for 51, one intercepted. Arkansas attempted 29, completed 13 for 160 yards, one intercepted.

ARKANSAS 6

GEORGE WASHINGTON 13

WASHINGTON, D. C. OCT. 16

Meeting Arkansas toe to toe with tight pass defense as a Yankee rain peppered an oily ball, the Razorbacks' "big-time" game was lost 13 to 6 to George Washington in the Nation's Capital. Arkansas scored first, middle of the first frame, on a short pass from Sloan to Benton—after Rawlings had moved Sloan's pass for 25 yards gain. Quickly the Colonials retaliated. Kaufman passed to Reeves for their touchdown. Then they broke the deadlock with an interception. Sloan's pass was taken by a GW man who ran it 30 yards, plunged over for the lead. Highpoint: Allen Keen's 50 yards around end, then his capture from behind by a Colonial on the one-foot line. Arkansas made 12 first downs to nine, gained 118 yards rushing to Washington's 99. Passing: Arkansas tried 40, completed 10 for 132. Washington: 10 tried, four finished, 59 yards. Touchdowns: Benton, Reeves, Turner. Extra point: Canning.

Back

Weight—190; Height—6 ft., 3 in.
Home—Fayetteville, Arkansas

Holt completed his second year of varsity play this past season with one year of eligibility remaining. He was one of the best kickers on the squad, and while Robbins was injured, filled the All-Conference back's shoes in this department very creditably.

RAY HAMILTON
End

Weight—206; Height—6 ft., 4 in.
Home—Sheridan, Arkansas

Undeniably one of the best ends in the U. S., this blond giant was one of the chief reasons that Arkansas gained the name of the "passingest team in the U. S." Ray was also a defensive terror, smashing play after play aimed at his end.

NATHAN GORDON
End

Weight—180; Height—5 ft., 10 in.
Home—Morrilton, Arkansas

Although handicapped as an offensive end because of his size, Gordon proved himself to be one of the best defensive ends in the Southwest Conference. Time and time again he broke through to nail opposing ball-carriers behind the line of scrimmage.

ARKANSAS 7

L. S. U. 19

SHREVEPORT, OCT. 24

Slow field, steady rain grounded the Razorbacks, let the Louisiana State University surface soldiers rout Arkansas aerialists 19 to 7 before 15,000 customers at the Fairgrounds. The Tigers' heavy running attack dominated the play, although the Arkansas air show performed well. The lone Arkansas touchdown, game highpoint, came when a fluke play occurred late in the fourth. Arkansas had advanced to the Tiger eighty-yard stripe. Sloan faded back, shot a pass that Crass batted in the air, Brown, Porker fullback, grabbed. Vann crossed the goal. Sloan boot-ed the placement to convert. LSU scored twice in the second, once in the third, but in the fourth they had to bring their best defensive plays out to hold Arkansas. The Hogs took long chances. They tried 33 heaves, completed 16. This enabled them to complete 15 first downs to Louisiana's 10; gain 234 yards to State's 215.

ARKANSAS 18

TEXAS A. & M. 0

COLLEGE STATION, OCT. 31

Thrice-defeated Arkansas tumbled Texas A. and M. from football's undefeated clan with a bold air raid, 18 to 0, before 6,000 dazed fans who went to College Station for Hog-killing time. The Cadet eleven could not attack closer than the 18 yard line. Their every threat—Dick Todd, running sensation, and Southpaw Jim Shockley, feared passer—were stopped by a bewildering Arkansas return to early season form. Twenty-four times the Porkers struck through the air; 14 passes found their marks for two touchdowns and a total gain of 151 yards. The cadets managed for 15 first downs to Arkansas' 11, however, by ground gains. Robbins faked a pass, drove through center for the first touchdown. Other scores were made by Bobbie Martin, Red Ray Hamilton. Sloan sent into the game, shared honors with Robbins.

BILLY HUNTER
End

Weight—188; Height—6 ft., 3 in.

Hunter is a pass receiver of extraordinary ability, having completed two years on the Razorback squad. He is also an excellent ball carrier after he gets his hands on a pass. Hunter especially sparkled in an end around play.

GEORGE GILMORE
Guard

Weight—192; Height—5 ft., 10 in.
Home—Olney, Texas

Ideal in size and with speed and a quick wit to accompany, Gilmore has all the physical and mental requirements for a great guard. After a rather slow start last season, Gilmore settled down and played the kind of football of which he was capable.

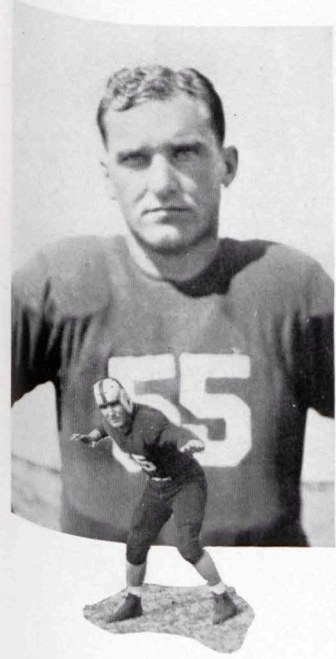

B. A. OWENS
Guard

Weight—196; Height—6 ft.
Home—Pine Bluff, Arkansas

Although Owens is known to the general public chiefly for his place kicking prowess, he is also a fine all-around guard. Such is his ability that the ex-Tech star is going to be very hard to keep off the starting lineup next year.

Hamilton and Van Sickle block S. M. U. punt by Goodson

DREW MARTIN
Guard

Weight 180; Height—5 ft., 10 in.
Home—Morris, Oklahoma

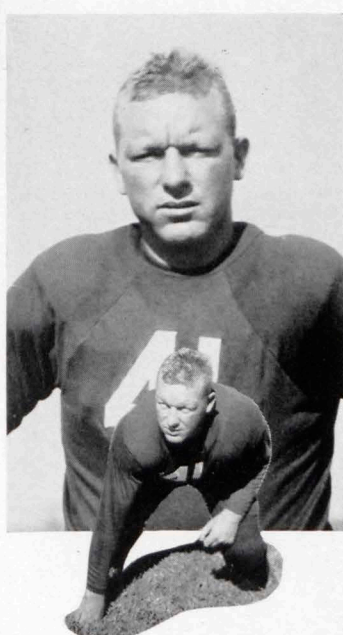

Drew Martin is a rugged, hard playing, type of guard, who is very difficult to keep out of a play. He has another year of varsity eligibility remaining and should have an even better season than the past one.

RANDALL STALLINGS
Tackle

Weight—207; Height—6 ft., 2 in.
Home—McAlester, Oklahoma

Stallings completed his first year of varsity play this past season and showed quite a good deal of promise. If he continues to improve, he has an excellent chance to win himself a position in the starting lineup next year.

EDWARD LALMAN

Weight—212; Height—6 ft., 3 in.
Home—McAlester, Oklahoma

Lalman was a starting tackle this season and should be one of the stalwarts in Tommy's line next season. Lalman is the perfect size for a tackle—big and rangy, and fast for his build. 1937 should be a big year for him.

ARKANSAS 20

RICE 14

HOMECOMING, Nov. 7

Bursting back into the limelight of Southwest competition, Arkansas trampled the powerhouse of Rice 20 to 14 in the fifteenth annual Homecoming tussle. Arkansas relied mostly on running plays. One brilliant dash by Allen Keen was good for 60 yards through the entire Rice team for a touchdown. Rice also did some neat footwork, as Vickers and Neece twice went more than half the length of the field along the boundary for scores. These plays brought a halt to the game as fans, players, officials argued about their running out of bounds. Dope was sprayed all over the lot when this game made sport scribes break the lead in their pencils. Rice had beaten Washington, who beat the Porkers. And having been defeated by A. and M., the team Arkansas had beaten the previous week, Rice got another hurt here. The twin passing pair, Robbins and Sloan, proved the main threat again. Extra points: Vickers Schuele; Owens, two.

ARKANSAS 17

S. M. U. 0

DALLAS, Nov. 14

Long-legged Jack Robbins and his Arkansas playmates made the fall of mighty Southern Methodist complete with a 17 to 0 rout that rocketed the Porkers into conference leadership. Not one good break slipped by the rangy Ozark giants as they intercepted two Methodist heaves for touchdowns and converted a recovered fumble into a field goal. Robbins and Bobbie Martin stormed all over the premises behind a stout line to outclass the Mustangs. Arkansas completely smothered the Mustangs' formerly-celebrated "aerial circus". They annexed SMU's title of the passingest team. Kenneth Goodson, dashing halfback, played the role of Methodist "goat" by fumbling. Touchdowns: Arkansas — Rawlings (pass from Robbins); Martin (pass interception); field goal from placement, Owen; points after touchdowns, Owen, 2.

TULSA, Nov. 26

Playing smarter, better football, Arkansas took its annual game with Tulsa 23 to 13 in the thirteenth game between the two schools. A crowd of 16,000 chilled and thrilled in Skelly stadium. The Tulsans fought bravely, pushing over two touchdowns on smart plays, but the score did not indicate the Razorbacks' superiority. The statistics showed it—23 first downs for Arkansas, seven for Tulsa. Piling up a margin, Thomsen sent in his reserves for some experience. With three minutes left, "Red" Chapman blocked Jack Holt's punt on the Porker 35 to pave the way for their last score. Arkansas gained 160 yards passing, 27 by laterals. They hurled 25, completed 11. Touchdowns: Arkansas—Brown, two; Robbins. Tulsa—White, Hays. Extra points: Owens, three; Gregory. Safety—White (downed by Benton and Hamilton).

LITTLE ROCK, DEC. 5

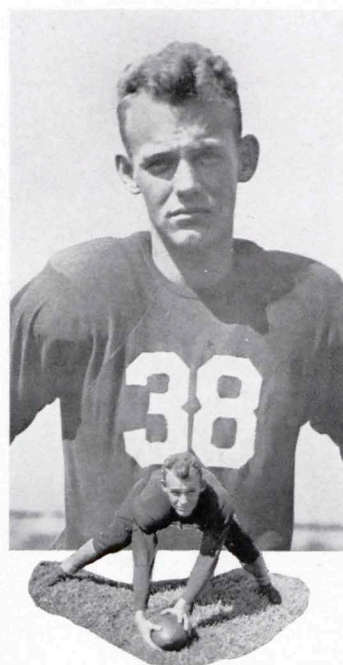

Dwight Sloan drove his passing Porkers to their first undisputed Southwest Conference championship and a 6 to 0 victory over the University of Texas one cold, rainy December day. Approximately 7,000 fans boosted the cleaning and pressing business by remaining to see what would happen when an "immovable object was struck by an irresistible force". Nothing happened. Not until the third quarter. Then the Razorbacks' sensational scoring drive that culminated in Sloan's touchdown pass into the title-embracing arms of Jim Benton, all-Conference end. The rest of the game was all wet, elementally and footballly. The Texas Longhorns just butted heads with the Razorbacks. Texas had every advantage in statistics except passing and the Arkansas aerial circus proved that even a December storm couldn't check its sensationalism. Arkansas completed eight out of 16 forwards for 71 yards.

LUNDY CORBETT
Tackle

Weight—215; Height—6 ft., 2 in.
Home—Walnut Ridge, Arkansas

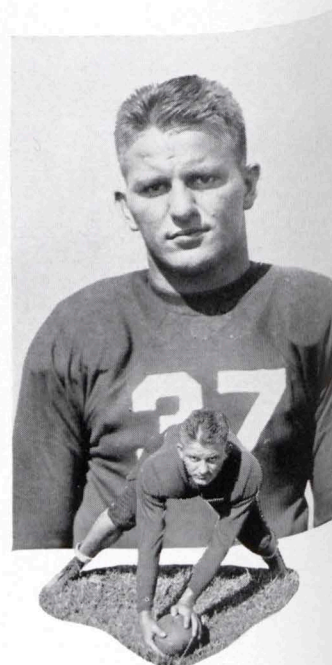

This popular sophomore looks like one of the best tackle prospects to matriculate at the University in many a moon. Handicapped at the start of the season by ailing knees, Corbett began to look like the proverbial million dollars as the season progressed.

LLOYD WOODELL
Center

Weight—183; Height—6 ft., 2 in.

Hailed as a second Jack Newby, Sophomore Woodell looks like a pivot man of real ability. After Lunday was incapacitated by a broken finger, Woodell filled his position in excellent style. Although small, Woodell possesses speed and ruggedness to make up for it.

JOHN DONALDSON
Center

Weight—175; Height—5 ft., 10 in.

For the past two seasons Donaldson has filled in acceptably at center and indications are that his senior year will be his best. The Little Rock boy is an accurate passer, a sterling player on defense, and is plenty smart in figuring out the opponents' strategy.

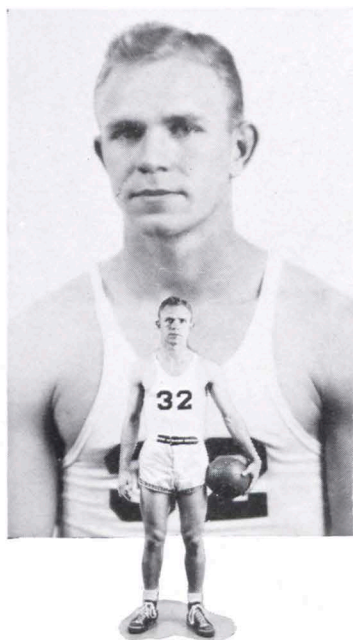

"I don't care if you are going to the stratosphere, they want to play basketball."

BASKETBALL

SUGAR BOWL CHAMPIONS . .

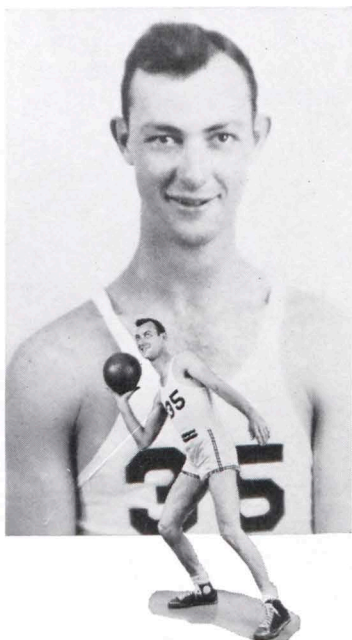

SOUTHWEST CONFERENCE RUNNER UP

BOBBIE MARTIN
Captain

Height—6 ft., 1 in.;
Home—Texarkana, Arkansas

Captain Martin is a little man on the Razorback basketball team, but his speed and ability have more than made up for this handicap. With three letters in football and two in basketball, Bobbie has completed his participation in University athletics the past season.

ELWIN GILLILAND
Sub-captain

Height—6 ft., 3 in.;
Home—Beebe, Arkansas

Gilliland played the kind of basketball that he has played for the past three years—a hard, fast game that continually broke him in the clear under the opposition's basket. One of his specialties is the interception of opposition passes.

Second were the Razorback basketball team in Conference running, but first were Porkers in altitude. Again led Arkansas in squad members' height, having the tallest quintet of the league.

Lacking just a little of the previous season's punch, the Hogs wallowed through to runners-up in the loop, after being doped to fall lower. Coach Glen Rose, the whitest, most decent mentor to receive a reporter, and who can be a good newspaper man if he ever loses his job as producer of winners, pepped the Porkers on to victories.

VARSITY SQUAD

Top Row: Coach Rose, N. Martin, Brodie, Goza, Stout, Hamilton, Withers, Hays;
Second: Brady, Chambers, Lockard, B. Martin, Gilliland, Tuck, Smith, Robbins.

Lockard tallies a ringer against S. M. U.

Arkansas brought up the curtain December 14, with a 31 to 22 win over Drake University of Des Moines, Iowa, as the Bulldogs invaded the South. Elwin Gilliland was highpoint with 15 points. Drake was Missouri Valley titleholder.

Later that week came overwhelming victories from Southeastern Oklahoma Teachers here. Arkansas trampled the Sooner Pedagogues 33-19 Thursday night as Don "Deadpan" Lockard, non-smiling sharpshooter, tallied 12 points.

The second round was also taken by the home team as they ran up 39 to 28 score. A visitor, Robert Brown, six foot seven center, grabbed top honors with 12 points as Lockard came in with 10, all scored in the first half.

Meeting the second champion quintet of another conference within the same month, Arkansas journeyed to New Orleans for a game with the University of Tennessee Volunteers in the Sugar Bowl, December 30. The Southeast loop leaders were beaten 42 to 34 there. "Deadpan" dropped in 16 baskets to take honors.

Rough was the first defeat of the season as the mighty Razorbacks fell under a paper-cutter. Brown Paper Mill of Monroe, Louisiana, Missouri Valley AAU team, barely nosed the Porkers out 31 to 30, on January 2. Excessive fouling and sudden spurt of the Millers gave them the game. Gilliland paced the scoring with 13.

Came Conference contests on January 8 when Arkansas opened the race against Baylor. The Bears upset the heavily-favored hometeam 25 to 22 Friday night with a fast-breaking attack. Expressionless Lockard tied with Bubba Gernand for honors with nine tallies each.

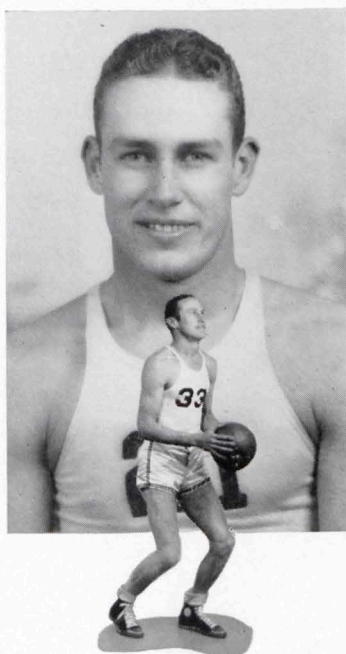

Reversing form completely Saturday night, Arkansas thrashed Baylor well, 42 to 24. Conference prophets reworted their predictions again, praised Lockard highly as he approached record-making with his high-honor 21 points.

DON LOCKARD
Forward

Height—6 ft., 3 in.;
Home—Batesville, Arkansas

The "Batesville Beauty" set a new scoring record in basketball history with a total of 159 points for the twelve conference games. For this mark of over 13 points per game and for his excellent all-around play, Lockard received a forward position on the all-conference team.

JACK ROBBINS
Guard

Height—6 ft., 2 in.
Home—Little Rock, Arkansas

"Smiling Jack" Robbins was not content with making the all-conference football team. He was also selected on the all-conference basketball team. Besides compiling the best scoring record of any guard in the conference, Jack exhibited a marvelous floor game.

RAY HAMILTON
Center

Height—6 ft., 4 in.;
Home—Sheridan, Arkansas

Ray showed steady improvement throughout the season and became one of the mainstays of the Razorback squad, both offensively and defensively. He is known as "Baby Ray" because he is the youngest member of the squad.

Invasion came next as the Razorbacks bivouacked in Dallas January 15-16. Friday night the Mustangs, on their way to the crown, whipped the touring, towering, tusslers from the mountains 29 to 25. "Smiling" Jack Robbins, most versatile athlete, was ejected in the first few minutes for protesting a decision. J. D. Norton, Pony forward, scored 12 to lead.

Next night found the Porkers prancing back hard to defeat the Methodists 37 to 28. An early lead by means of Hamilton's rapid-fire, put Arkansas in front. Then with Lockard's consistent accuracy in piling nine points for tops, the Hogs rooted out the Horses.

Another Lone-Star jaunt came February 5-6 when Arkansas tangled with the Longhorns at Austin. But Texas U. turned on too much heat, defeating the Razorbacks 39 to 28. Henry Clifton, guard, was everything, but he couldn't surpass Lockard's highpoint 12 with his own 11 before the gun fired.

Texas swept its twin-bill Saturday night by beating Arkansas 43 to 31. Joe Roach, Texas forward, displayed his fiery style to take tops with 13 points. Texas grabbed an early lead, held it with tight defense.

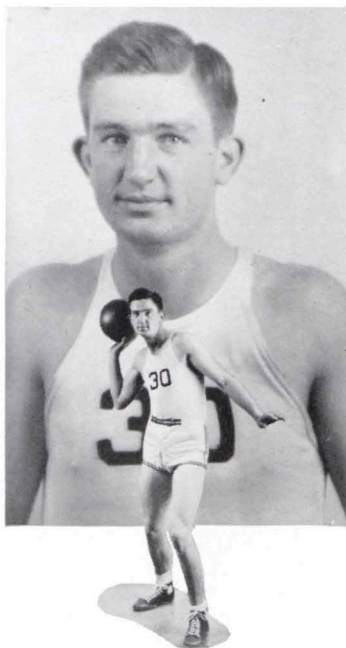

Returning home, Arkansas took on the Texas Aggies February 12-13. Fri-night the Porkers knocked the Cadets out of the Southwest Conference race with a 45-19 triumph. Jack Robbins suddenly turned accurate, took high place with 15 points.

The second tussle made it a clean sweep for the Razorbacks. They walloped the Aggies 36 to 32. Evans, flashy forward for the College Station boys, styled the home team with 14 ringers.

"Record!" shouted the scribes again when Lockard went wild against Rice. Don dropped 26 points through the hoop, three less than the entire Owl team in their feeble attempt. The verdict: 52 to 29 victory for Arkansas. Saturday night the Porkers were as hot, winning 52 to 34.

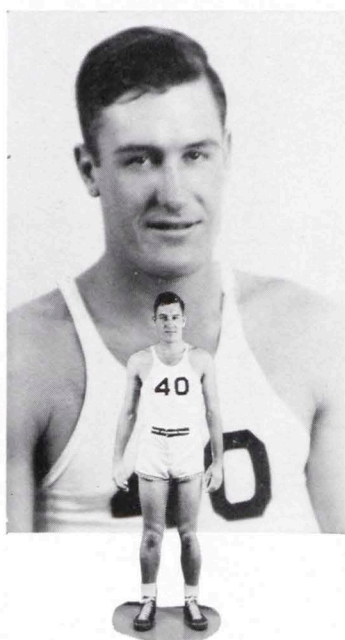

Arkansas carries its relentless spirit to the floorboards

HAROLD BRADY
Guard

Height—5 ft., 11 in;
Home—Webbers Falls, Oklahoma

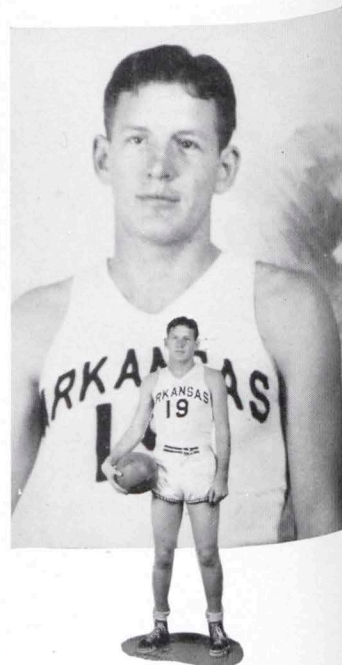

Although the smallest of the Razorbacks in stature, this little Oklahoman was big in prowess. He won a position for himself in the regular lineup before the season was half over and kept it. He possessed a fighting spirit.

FRANK BRODIE
Guard

Height—6 ft., 6 in.;
Home—Van Buren, Arkansas

Although Brodie was kept out of the starting lineup on several occasions by severe colds, he was one of the most dependable of Coach Rose's men. Brodie's height enabled him to do fine work under the basket.

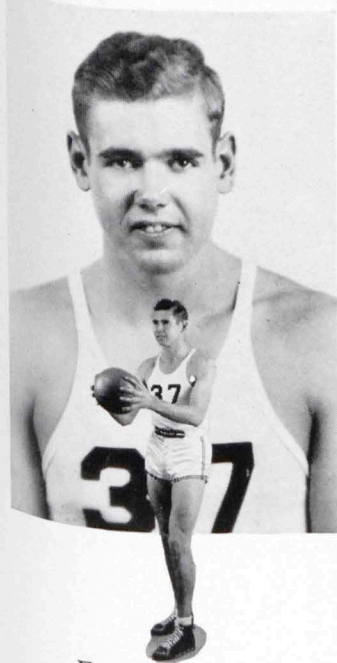

JAMES BENTON
Forward

Height—6 ft., 4 in.;
Home—Fordyce, Arkansas

Benton made his first varsity letter this year and stamped himself as a promising player. His height and speed give him a fine physical make-up for basketball, and he should be one of next year's outstanding players.

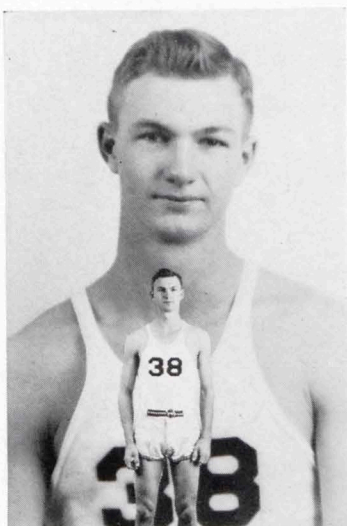

Rice gapes at Lockard scoring from an impossible angle

FREMONT GOZA
Center

Height—6 ft., 5 in.;
Home—Carterville, Missouri

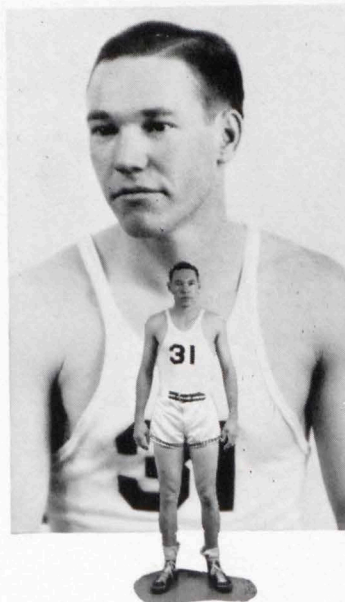

Goza has the height that is so necessary to Southwest conference basketball, but was handicapped by inexperience this being his first season of varsity play. He will bear a great deal of watching next year.

NEAL MARTIN
Forward

Height—6 ft., 1 in.
Home—Texarkana, Arkansas

Neil, the little brother of Captain Bobby Martin, is a smooth and polished performer, considering the fact that he is only a sophomore. Plenty should be heard from him next year in both football and basketball.

HENRY TUCK
Forward

Height—6 ft.;
Home—Fayetteville, Arkansas

Tuck's hard work and persistence earned him a letter this season. He has developed into a very capable and smooth performer, but is handicapped somewhat by height. Tuck will again be in the lineup next season.

"Goodbye to Schmidt's barn," said fans as they filed out February 27. The shack marked "—30—" to its varsity cage career, to be superseded by the new superstructure, 3,500 customer-capacity gymnasium, in erection now. That night saw the Razorbacks bow to the mighty and unbeaten Phillips Oilers of Bartlesville, 39 to 33. That night also saw great, lanky, moon-fixed Tom Pickell, former Porker all-American, shine again at his almatier, but as forward for visitors. Fortenberry, gigantic center for Phillips, the team whose every man is an all-American, paced scoring with 10.

Final contests came at Fort Worth, March 5-6 when the Razorbacks won twice from Texas Christian's Horned Frogs. Friday night came the 38 to 35 decision for Arkansas. Poker-faced Lockard again came through for top honors with his 11 points.

Ending the season, Arkansas trounced the Frogs again 43 to 21. By this record, they clinched second place honors in a loop which, at first, granted them a repeat on the flag, then moved the dope down on the Razorbacks to .500 percent. But the Porkers came up after early drops to annex runnerup position, having won more pennants than any other team in the history of the conference.

Baby-blue eyed, poker-faced, streamlined Don "Deadpan" Lockard made himself famous with his one-handed shots, his high scores, his spectacular court play. He counted 159 points, the most of the loop; made more field goals than anyone, 66.

Arkansas made more field goals, 170, than any team. Porkers scared opponents often with their altitude, their skill, speed, and tactics.

Top Row: Coach Cole, Mardick, Humphries, Sutherland, Curtis, Lyons;
Second: Freeman, Hall, Thorpe, Eakin, Hagoed, Bishop, Morrow.

A standing record broke when the Fosh quintet lost its first game in three years playing. And they lost it to a team that they defeated earlier in the season. Joplin Y. M. C. A. beat the Pigs 48 to 39 to cut a string of 28 victories, according to Coach George Cole.

Opening the season away from home the freshmen beat Fort Smith Junior College 30 to 22. Then came a win over Monett, Mo., Junior College, 34 to 20, at home.

Joplin invaded Fayetteville then to lose 41 to 40. Next the Yearlings went to Indian Territory to win over Okmulgee J. C. 34 to 22.

Fort Smith came here to lose 38 to 29 and then the ill-fated, record breaker occurred with Joplin.

A game with Monett there was a victory, 46 to 29. Okmulgee came here, lost 44 to 18 to close the season.

OTHER SPORTS

Top Row: Withers, Nelson, Overstreet, November, Gardner, Martin, Price, Miller, Baker; Second: Cele, Donaldson, Spillers, Chambers, Stout, McDaniel, Fletcher, Pinero, Coach Thomsen; Third: Dovitch, Smith, Roebuck, Cassard, Walls, Rawlings, Keen.

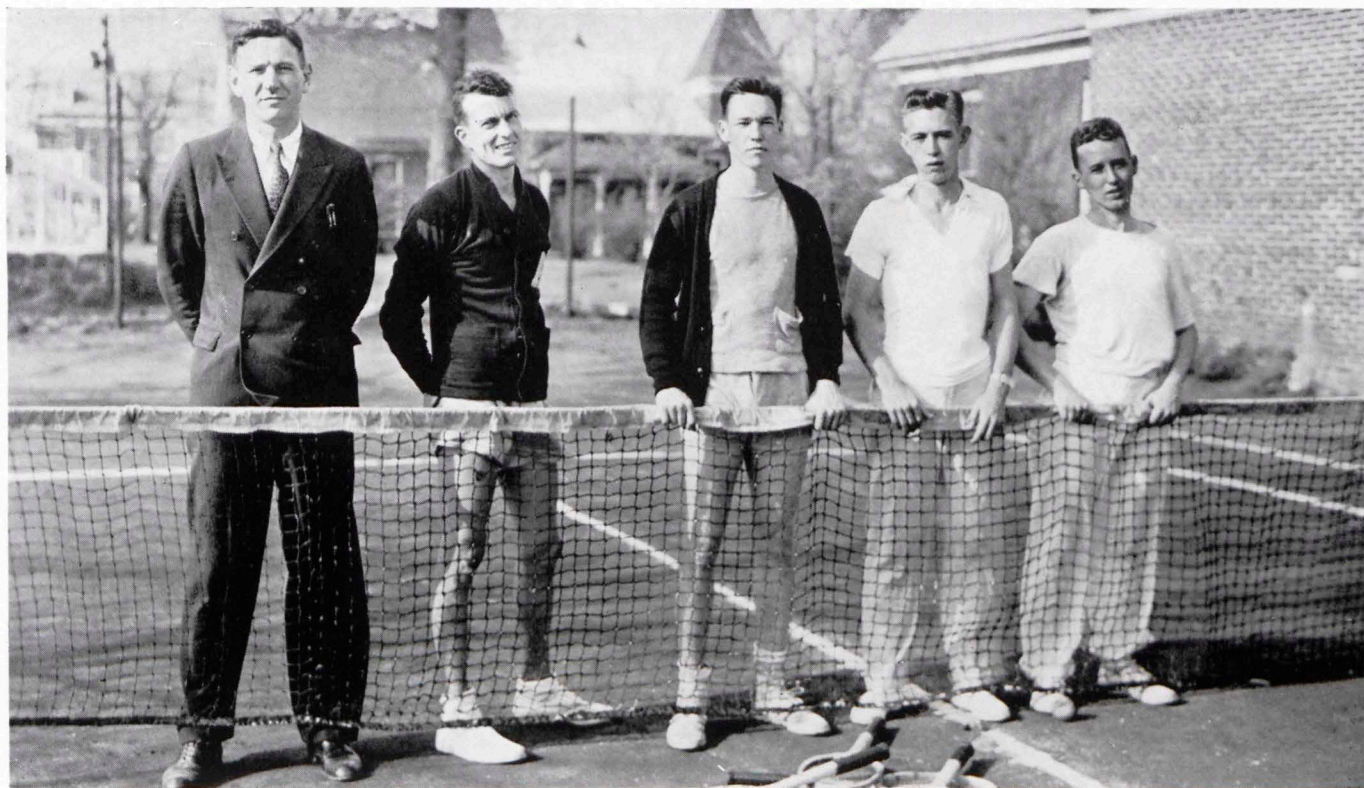

TRACK TEAM

For the first time in several years, Arkansas promises to make a real showing in the Southwest conference track meet. Although track talent in the conference is unusually brilliant, some of the Razorback performers have shown form this far in the season that will be hard to beat. Big Bob Stout broke the University discus record with a heave of 143 feet in a dual meet against Hendrix, which the Razorbacks annexed to the tune of 99-33, after he had broken the meet record against the Springfield Teachers, who also proved to be easy meat for Arkansas.

The flying feet of Ralph Rawlings carried him to high point honors in the Hendrix meet and promise to be a real threat in the dashes. He is co-captain of the squad.

Serving as co-captain with Ralph Rawlings, Allen Keen, the Oklahoma speed merchant has been winning the 440s in fast time and will no doubt be in the money at Austin.

At the time of this writing Jack Robbins is getting good distances with the javelin; Fletcher, with the shot. Martin and Roebuck look good in the hurdles, McDaniels and Martin are navigating the jumps in fine style. Glen Smith shows real promise as a distance man, while Gardner and Walls are taking care of the pole vaults. Dovitch and Price are Sophomores who look good in the dashes. Cassard is an excellent 440 man; Overstreet shows good distance form, while Withers is getting good discus tosses.

TENNIS TEAM

Missouri invasion gave Razorback netmen initial experience in 1936 season. Thursday, April 15, they opened with Southwestern Missouri Teachers at Springfield. Six to 0 was the outcome, with Porkers nursing the groaning circle.

Numbers reversed themselves in the next tilt, the next day, when the Porkers beat Southeastern Missouri Teachers at Cape Girardeau 6-love.

Back to Springfield went the four racketeers where they drubbed Drury's Collegians 5-1.

Hendrix was scheduled to play along with their track team but failed to appear for competition.

The Razorbacks next foes were Tahlequah, Okla., Teachers, here on May 7. The game had not been played when we went to press.

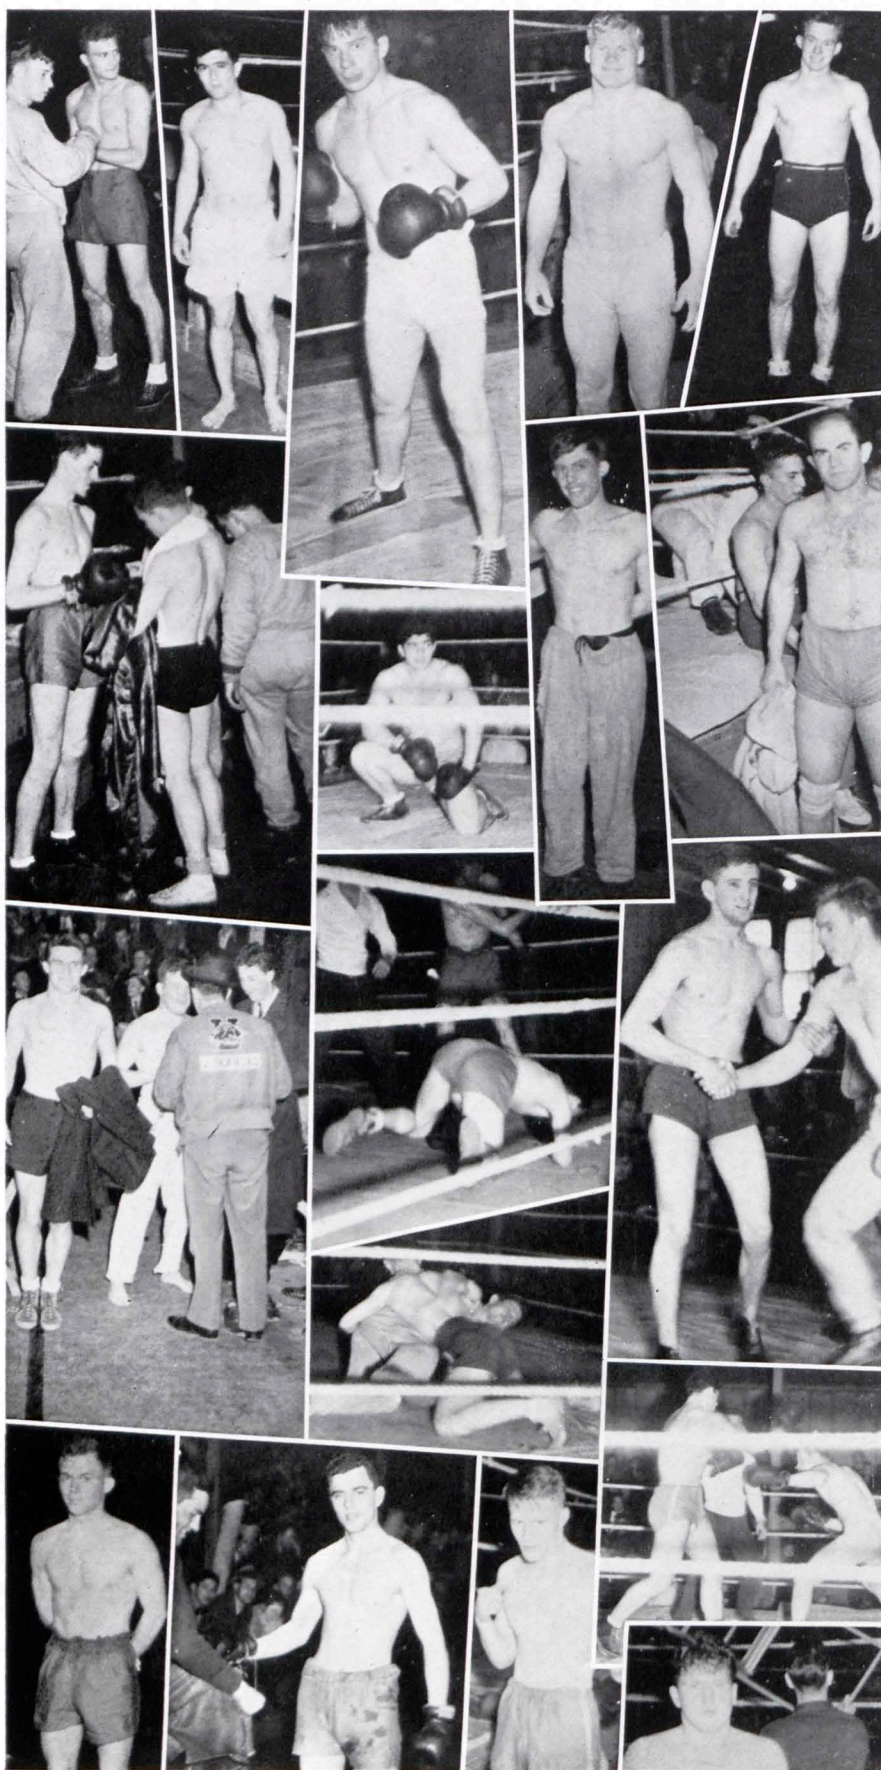

On the next day, May 8, the Southeastern Missouri Teachers came to the hills to attempt revenge for their defeat at the Cape.

Into Oklahoma territory went the Razorback courtiers on May 10 where they had a return engagement with the Teachers at Tahlequah.

With stars Henry Tuck, Bruce Miller, Warren Nance, and Frank Pittman batting the balls, the Arkansas season was successful.

Last fall, tennis received impetus in the YMCA tournament. Miller won the singles by defeating John Kane, who thus broke a string of campus victories. Tuck and Kane won the doubles from Nance and George Hunsberger, business faculty member.

Opening early with touch football, intramurals began their rough road of doing and dying for dear old Eta Beta Pi on September 19. Everybody did, but few died—there were just a few minor casualties like broken legs, busted arms, black eyes, and skinned scalps.

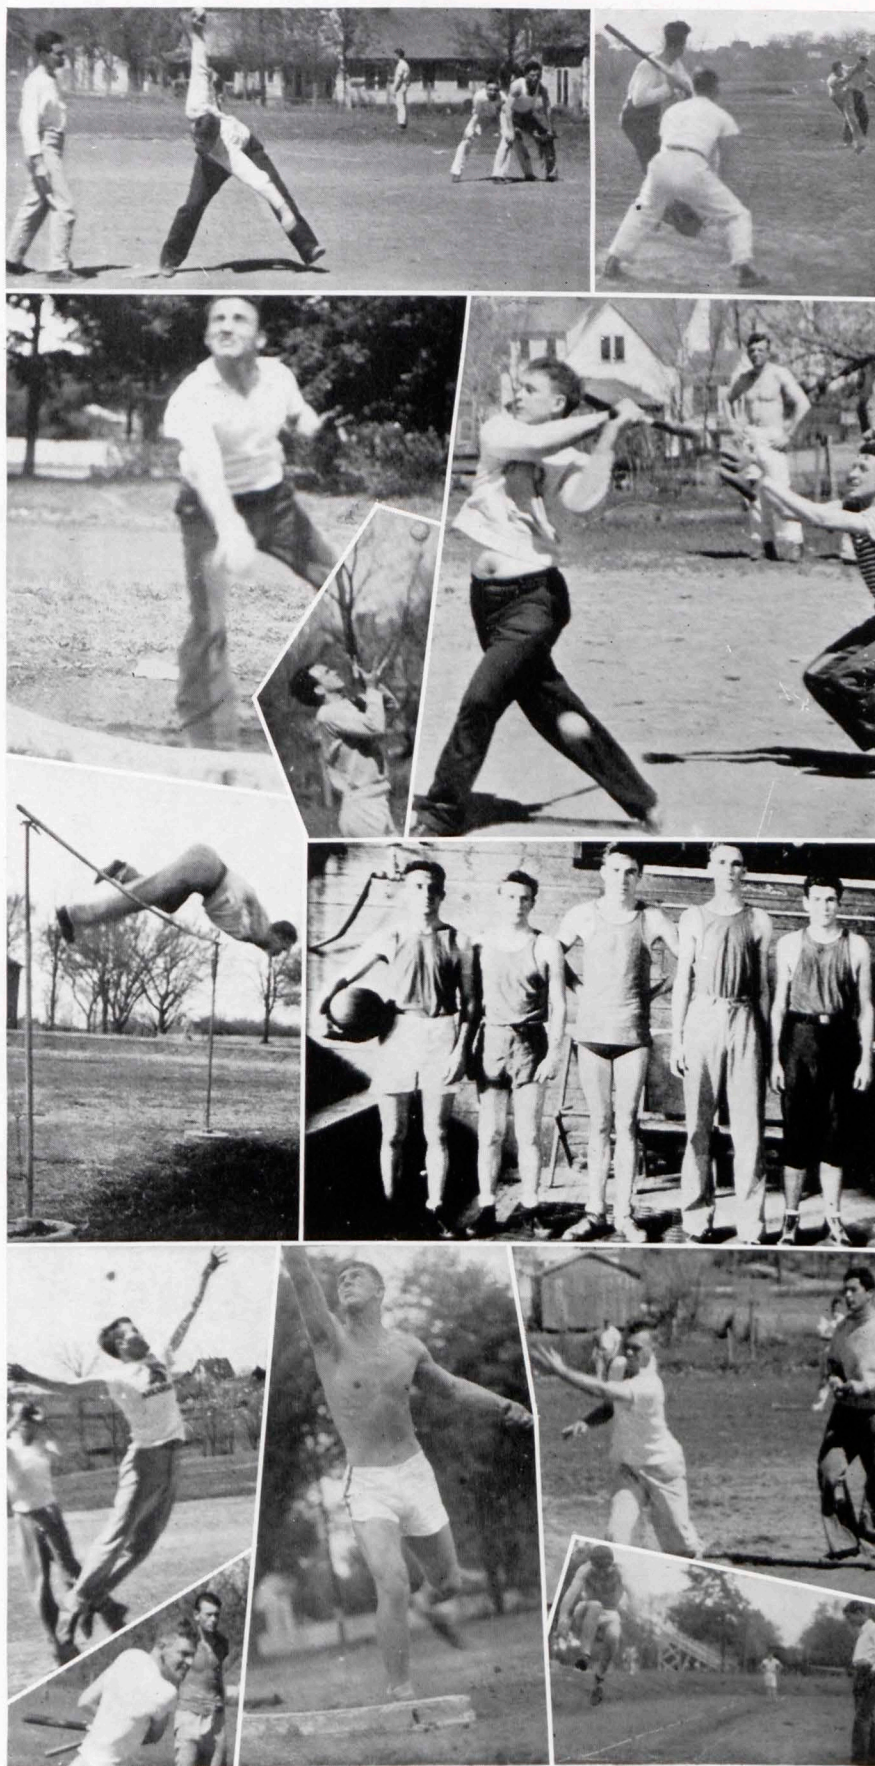

Powerful kicking of Happy Campbell, two 80-yard runs by Charlie "Rabble Rouser" Gardner, gave Kappa Sigma the opening victory, 28 to 0, over mud-soaked Kappa Nu. Lambda Chi Alpha, after fulltime and eight minutes overtime, slipped the grimy glove to Sigma Phi Epsilon, 7 to 0.

Then the ball-tossers played on with usual enmity. Near the end of the series, one game, between Lambda Chi and Town, was interspersed with free lance fisticuffs of both elevens.

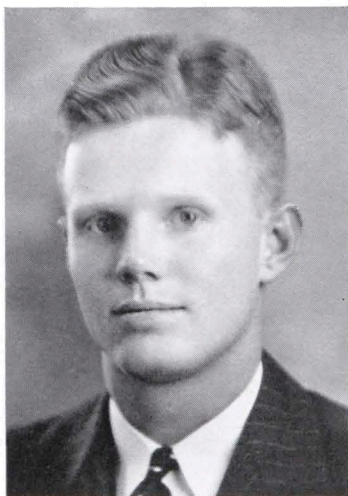

Came finals and Kappa Sig clinched the championship in their division, League II, by defeating Sigma Chi, 37 to 0.

Due to superb passing of Tonky Moore, Sigma Alpha Epsilon won their division. All other teams had been eliminated, so KZ and SAE met in the championship clash.

Kappa Sig annexed the title by pacing SAE 9 to 6, on Wednesday, Oct. 28.

INTRAMURAL MANAGERS

LEROY POND

T. J. GENTRY

Diversion came when disgruntled players, omitted from competing lineups, formed the Sore-heads to play the Traveler's All-Stars. The former beat the latter 32 to 2 in their grudge fight.

First major injury to intramural players occurred when Pug Brumley, stellar Kappa Sig end, broke his leg in a football game against Lambda Chi Nov. 20. Brumley's brethren won, however, 13 to 0. But he is still on crutches at this publishing.

Post-Christmas sport was resumed quickly when basketball series began. Tau Epsilon Phi eked a one point win, 14-13, over next-door neighbors, K Sig, and Pi KA won a one-point victory over Alpha Gamma Rho; Sigma Nu beat Lambda Chi 25 to 17 to initiate the series.

Town retained their court championship by defeating Dormitory B 32 to 9 for the championship. Capt. Marion Narisi paced the Fayettevillians with Savoy Seamster shining for Dorm. Rough and rambunctious was the tussle, with frequent gentle taps given by closed fists.

The selfish art of manly defense opened the next ring of intramurals when Greeks met Greeks and Barbs in the ring. Boxing and wrestling took the scene.

Modified murder art was publicized more when Bobby Rhodes, bantamweight, and Marion Fletcher, heavy, won State AAU boxing titles.

Finals in the padded square took place Thursday, April 8.

Following this came track, tennis, horseshoe pitching, golf, and softball contests, extending close to the last roundup, exams.

MILITARY

LT.-COL. J. M. WHITE, PROFESSOR OF MILITARY SCIENCE AND TACTICS

The military department of the University of Arkansas is maintained in compliance with rules governing land grant colleges. The University has offered military training since 1872.

Under the supervision of Lieutenant-Colonel James M. White, the cadet corps has been awarded five consecutive honor ratings by the inspectors of the Seventh Corps Area.

In spite of many changes in the personnel of the military department, Lieutenant-Colonel White has kept up the standard of the regiment in corps area ratings. By continual insistence on proficiency, not only has he developed an analytical group of cadet officers, but has also made those same officers reason military problems themselves. He thus fosters a true spirit of leadership among cadets.

REGIMENTAL HEADQUARTERS STAFF

BRUCE BISSELL

Cadet Colonel

Bruce Bissell held the paramount office of the Reserve Officers Training Corps. Due to his ability he served as cadet colonel of the University regiment, which this year exceeded all other records for total enrollment. Bissell had two years training in West Point. At summer camp of the local unit, he was named second most outstanding student there. He worked on his Masters degree this year, but he plans to go into the army on receiving his commission.

Twenty-four members, two from each fraternity, compose the Interfraternity Council. This year the Council has compiled new rushing rules and solved the problems arising among organizations. Its purpose is to create a closer harmony among various groups.

This year uniform rush cards were issued, along with rules of rushing, and information concerning the adoption of the "third date" system of rushing.

The Council this year experimented with a friendly plan in which each fraternity at regular intervals dispatched its pledges in groups of three to other fraternity houses.

All fraternities cooperate in the annual Council dance.

Founded at the University of Virginia, 1869

Xi Chapter Established at the
University of Arkansas, 1890

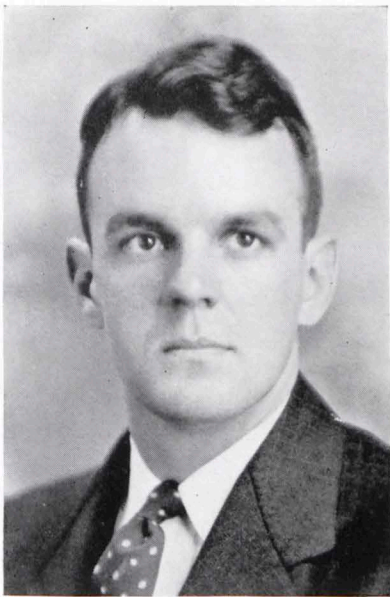

Five close college friends gathered at the University of Virginia on Dec. 10, 1869 to form Kappa Sigma fraternity in the United States. William G. McCormick, who had traveled in Europe, had been inducted into the order there by a nobleman. The fraternity originated in Bologna, Italy and its first members were students in the University there who banded together against oppression. Since its establishment in this country it has grown to be a large, international organization. Kappa Vaughan are charter members of Xi chapter at Arkansas in 1890.

Kappa Sigma now has 106 chapters in this country, with one in Canada. Its monthly magazine is the Caduceus, and other publications include The Star and Crescent, Address Book, Homes, History, Song Book, and the The Kappa Sigma Book.

President J. C. Futrall and Judge George Vaughan are charter members of Xi chapter at Arkansas.

During the time fraternities were barred from the campus, Kappa Sigma existed as the Richardson Club, named after an early sponsor. This sub rosa existence was from 1901 to 1903.

Alpha Epsilon Chapter Established at the
University of Arkansas, 1893

Sigma Alpha Epsilon was founded in 1856 by eight students of the University of Alabama, who had become hard and fast friends. In its early days it remained in the South, the first chapter north of the Mason and Dixon line being established just before the Civil War. At present the order numbers one hundred and eight active chapters with an initiated membership of over 40,000. Working in collaboration with the active chapters are one hundred and five alumni associations in American cities and Paris, France. Of these, there are three in this state.

Publications are fraternity histories, directories, secret publications, and the periodical magazine, "The Record," which is a quarterly with a circulation of 30,000.

National headquarters are maintained at Evanston, Illinois. In the national house, owned by S. A. E., there is a large library of books concerning fraternity subjects in general and a museum devoted to the American college fraternity. Conventions are held biannually, and in alternate years province conventions meet. The local chapter, Arkansas Upsilon, was established on the University campus in 1893 with a chapter enrollment of seventeen.

Alpha Omicron Chapter Established at the
University of Arkansas, 1895

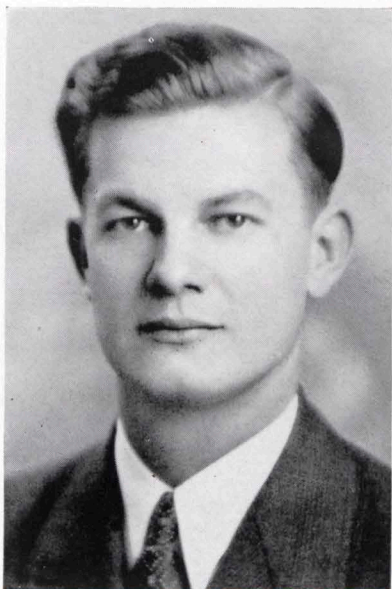

Kappa Alpha Order was founded December 21, 1865, at Washington and Lee University. The bleeding South was just emerging from the Civil War and four students of what was then Washington College banded together to start a movement to foster and maintain manners, customs, and ideals of the Southern people. They looked to Robert E. Lee, who was then the president of Washington College, as their ideal.

Kappa Alpha has confined itself to the South. The order now has sixty-seven chapters located in the principal colleges and universities of the South. Alpha Omicron was installed at Arkansas on April 27, 1895. Before binding itself to the national fraternity, it was a local of ten men.

Kappa Alpha Order is organized in seven provinces and these are officiated by Province Commanders, Secretaries, and Alumni Historians. Over these provinces are a Knight Commander, a Grand Historian, and a Chief Alumnus. Professor Allan Humphreys, a member of the local chapter, is now serving as Grand Purser.

Official publications are the Kappa Alpha Journal, the Special Messenger, Directory, and Kappa Alpha Song Book.

Gamma Upsilon Chapter Established at the
University of Arkansas, 1904

Sigma Nu originated from the Legion of Honor, a secret organization. The Greek letter name was adopted on January 1, 1869, at the Virginia Military Institute, Lexington, Va. James F. Hopkins, of Arkansas, was the recognized leader of the Legion of Honor, which opposed the overbearing control of another society. Hopkins, designer of the badge of Sigma Nu, was associated with Greenville Quarles and James M. Riley in the formation of the fraternity.

The chapters were not given Greek letter names at first, but were designated by Roman numerals in order of their establishment. There are now ninety-eight active chapters with a total membership of about 29,781.

Official publications include The Delta, quarterly periodical, the Sigma Nu Song Book, The Story of Sigma Nu, and Sigma Nu catalogues.

The Gamma Upsilon chapter was established at the University of Arkansas in 1904.

Alpha Zeta Chapter Established at the
University of Arkansas, 1904

Pi Kappa Alpha was founded at the University of Virginia March 1, 1868, by Frederick Southgate Taylor, Littleton Waller Tazewell, Julian Edward Wood, Robert Norward, James Benjamin Schlater, and William Alexander. At first the fraternity was sectional, being confined to the South, but conservative expansion has resulted in an organization which is located in the larger institutions throughout the country.

At present the fraternity has seventy-nine active chapters and numerous active alumni chapters scattered throughout the United States.

Alpha Zeta chapter was chartered here November 2, 1904, there being ten charter members. It was the first chapter west of the Mississippi.

The Shield and Diamond, the official publication, is issued five times a year and contains news from all chapters and topics of fraternity interest. The secret publication is the Dagger and Key.

Omega Omega Chapter Established at the
University of Arkansas, 1905

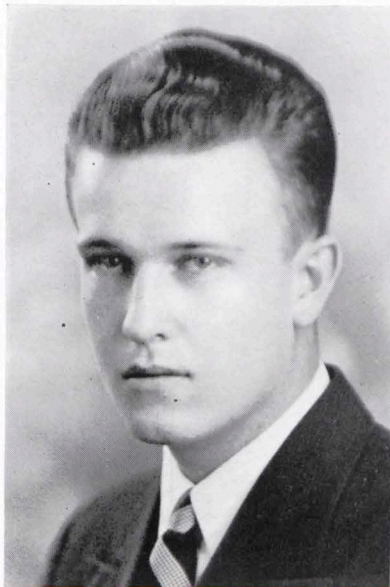

Sigma Chi was founded at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, June 28, 1855, by Thomas C. Bell, James P. Caldwell, and F. H. Lockwood, who, with the exception of the last, had been members of Kappa chapter of Delta Kappa Epsilon.

It was the nineteenth college fraternity founded and the third to be established at Miami University, the other two being Beta Theta Pi and Phi Delta Theta, which, with Sigma Chi, form the Miami Triad. The fraternity was first announced as Sigma Phi, but in 1856 the name was changed to Sigma Chi, due to the fact that the ritual and records of the chapter were stolen and that there existed an eastern fraternity known as Sigma Phi.

The fraternity was carried on during the Civil War by a unique group, the Constantine Chapter, which was composed of seven Sigma Chis who were in the Confederate Army. Its purpose was to perpetuate the fraternity in the South, regardless of the outcome of the war.

Sigma Chi consists of ninety-one chapters that are active, and twenty that are inactive. Two of the chapters are in Canada.

The official publication is the Magazine of Sigma Chi.

Sigma Phi Epsilon was founded at Richmond College (now the University of Richmond), Richmond, Virginia, in November, 1901. The basis of the organization was a society called the Saturday Night Club.

One of the features of the fraternity is the financial plan. Concerning this, Baird's says: "In 1916 the Purdue chapter surrendered all its property to the alumni who devised a plan of operation, since copyrighted by the fraternity as the Purdue Plan and now known as the 'Sigma Phi Epsilon Plan of Finance'. Under this plan financial affairs of the chapter are entirely in the hands of the alumni, the inexperienced undergraduate being relieved of this burden and so left free to devote all time to fraternal matters. The plan which worked so successfully at Purdue has been installed in all the chapters.

Arkansas Alpha chapter was installed at the University of Arkansas in 1907. The publication of the order is the Sigma Phi Epsilon Journal, published monthly.

Lambda Chi Alpha was founded at Boston University and grew out of the Cosmopolitan Law Club, which had been organized in 1909. The club was the parent of the first Zeta of the fraternity, Alpha, which was naturally at Boston.

The fraternity has now a total of eighty-four chapters, all of which are active. The headquarters are at Indianapolis, Indiana, under the management of Bruce H. McIntosh, administrative secretary. It has two full-time salaried secretaries who visit chapters twice a year.

The two major ideals of the fraternity are service and fraternalism.

Theta Phi Delta local was founded at Arkansas November 1, 1923, by Garland Stubblefield and Phil Deal. It was chartered as a Zeta in the national fraternity of Lambda Chi Alpha May 24, 1925.

Publications of the fraternity are Cross and Crescent, Song Book, Directory, Delta Pi, Pledge Training Manual, and The Expositor.

Arkansas Alpha Chapter Established at the
University of Arkansas, 1926

Theta Kappa Nu was never founded; it was amalgamated. If founding dates back to the first chapter of a fraternity, Theta Kappa Nu was born in 1867 at Culver-Stockton College in Missouri. But in this consolidation decade Theta Kappa Nu represents the merger plan applied to the fraternity world.

At a meeting in Springfield, Missouri, in 1924, eight old-established locals and a small national fraternity of three chapters assumed the same obligations. Theta Kappa Nu then is unique in having no mother chapters.

The fraternity has fifty-five chapters. Activities and scholarship have been stressed in its work.

Plans for the future of Arkansas Alpha are for intensive improvements in the form of restricted pledging of new men; extensive improvements in favorable publicity as pertains to scholarship, morality and good will.

Founded at the University of Rochester, 1911.

Upsilon Chapter established at the University of Arkansas, 1931.

Kappa Nu fraternity was founded at the University of Rochester, November 11, 1911, by six men, who had as their ideals Cooperation, Unity, Brotherhood, and Altruism.

The organization, due to a policy of internal strengthening, expanded slowly, until at the present time it has twenty chapters, situated throughout the United States. In 1931 Upsilon Chapter was established on this campus. Thus Kappa Nu brought to Arkansas the first Jewish national fraternity. The chapter previously existed as the Phi Epsilon local fraternity, which was organized in 1930.

The government of the fraternity is vested in an executive committee and a judicial committee, consisting of graduate members, delegates from each chapter, and the national officers. The national headquarters are maintained in Rochester, New York. Alumni chapters are also situated throughout the country.

A national convention is held annually, to which all chapters send delegates. Publications of the fraternity are: The Kappa Nu, a biennial magazine; the Reporter, the confidential bulletin of the national fraternity, published monthly; the monthly chapter bulletins, the Kappa Nu Song Book, and the Directory.

The Women's Panhellenic Association of the University of Arkansas is composed of two representatives from each sorority on the campus. At present there are six organizations belonging to the Association.

The purpose of the Association is to regulate rushing and other interfraternity matters, to promote cooperation and good feeling between the chapters and to work together for the good of the University and its women students.

Once each year the Association holds an open meeting for all sorority girls. On these occasions some nationally outstanding woman makes an address. Each year Panhellenic sponsors a Vice Versa Dance.

Miss Martha Reid, Dean of Women at the University, is the faculty adviser for the Association, and to her should be given much credit for the success of its administration. Meetings of the Panhellenic are held once a month in the office of the Dean of Women.

Zeta Tau Alpha was founded as the Virginia State Alpha, Virginia State Normal School at Farmville, Virginia, October 15, 1898, and was chartered as a legal corporation by the legislature of Virginia March 18, 1902. Since the former date the fraternity has expanded until it now has sixty-seven chapters in the United States and Canada.

Government of the fraternity is vested in a grand chapter composed of five officers. The legislative government is vested in a convention. The fraternity's central office is located at Beaumont, Texas. Chapters of Zeta Tau Alpha are grouped in twelve provinces, with a province president appointed over each. There is a scholarship loan fund, not necessarily limited to members of the fraternity.

Epsilon chapter was established at the University of Arkansas on December 18, 1903, and was the second national women's fraternity on the campus. The local which petitioned Zeta Tau Alpha was named Delta Phi. Epsilon was the fourth established chapter of the fraternity.

Arkansas Alpha Chapter Established at the University of Arkansas, 1909.

Pi Beta Phi was founded in 1867 at Monmouth College, Illinois, and was the first organization of college women founded with the aims and policies of a national fraternity. It was originally called L. C. Sororis, but in 1888 the name was changed to Pi Beta Phi Fraternity, and as such it is incorporated under the laws of Illinois.

The fraternity now has seventy-eight active chapters located in the leading colleges and universities of the United States and Canada. Pi Beta Phi has 144 chartered alumnae clubs. The total membership of the fraternity is approximately 19,000.

The fraternity, by voluntary contributions of members and alumnae, maintains a settlement school at Gatlinburg, Tennessee. It was established in 1912 as a memorial to the 12 founders of Pi Beta Phi. Situated on over one hundred acres of its own land in eight well-equipped buildings, the school offers work covering eleven grades. It has an enrollment of nearly 150 and a teaching staff of nine.

Arkansas Alpha chapter was founded in 1909. A new $40,000 home was completed in February, 1931.

The publication is the Arrow.

Delta Iota Chapter Established at the University of Arkansas, 1913.

Delta Delta Delta was founded at Boston University, Thanksgiving Eve, 1888. The founders, Eleanor Dorcas Pond and Ida Shaw Martin, on that day, associated with them twenty undergraduates and organized as a national sorority.

The spirit of Delta Delta Delta has so been shared that there are now seventy-six college chapters and eighty alumnae chapters in the United States and Canada. Delta Delta Delta now numbers in its membership more than 15,000 women.

The local chapter, Delta Iota, was granted a charter November 15, 1913. The anniversary of the chapter is celebrated annually by the return of Tri Deltas from all parts of the state to the chapter house for the Delta banquet.

Delta Delta Delta sponsors three endowment funds, the National Endowment Fund, the Trident Endowment Fund and the Visiting Endowment Fund. The sorority is now building up a Thanksgiving Endowment Fund which is to be used for altruistic purposes among college women to further higher education.

The three publications of Delta Delta Delta are the Trireme, the Triglyph, and the Trident.

Kappa Kappa Gamma was founded at Monmouth College, Mammouth, Illinois, in March, 1870, but did not make its public appearance until October 13, 1870, the anniversary of which date is observed as Founder's Day. There are now sixty-three active chapters, including three in Canada, nine inactive chapters, and ninety-nine alumnae associations. The total membership of the fraternity is over 17,000.

The management of fraternity affairs is in the hands of the National Council. The fraternity is grouped into ten geographical provinces, which hold biennial province conventions, alternating with the year of the National Convention. The central office is located at Columbus, Ohio.

The fraternity sponsors various philanthropic funds, among which are the Rose McGill Fund and the Students' Aid Fund. The latter was founded in 1902 as a memorial to the founders, and now totals $52,000. It is available as scholarship loans to any woman student in the institutions where Kappa has a chapter.

Publications of the fraternity include a quarterly magazine, "The Key", the song book, and a catalogue of members.

Delta Gamma was founded at Lewis School, Oxford, Mississippi, on January 2, 1874. It was the first national women's fraternity to have its beginning in the South. There are forty-six active chapters, twelve inactive, and its membership is about 12,000.

Five editions of the catalogue have been published since 1888, five of the song books since 1895 (a sixth now ready for publication), and two histories since 1901. The journal is the "Anchor," which has been published annually since 1884.

A $50,000 student loan fund is provided to assist worthwhile undergraduates.

Delta Gamma's outstanding philanthropic work is the Delta Gamma Clinic in Marchienne, Belgium, which was established during the war. $28,000 was raised for the Belgian refugee children.

Alpha Omega chapter was installed April 10, 1930, at the University of Arkansas.

Alpha Chi Sigma, professional fraternity in chemistry, was founded at the University of Wisconsin in 1902. Its members are drawn from students who plan to make some phase of chemistry their life's work. From the date of its founding until 1922, the fraternity was composed of its collegiate and alumni chapters, but during the year 1932 there began a division of the organization into two general branches, one of them consisting of the collegiate and the other of the professional chapters.

It is the object of the fraternity of Alpha Zeta to promote the profession of agriculture; to establish, foster and develop high standards of scholarship, character, leadership, and a spirit of fellowship among all its members.

Each year the Arkansas Chapter presents a scholarship award to the freshman from the previous year who made the highest grade point. The chapter also presents a plaque to the vocational agriculture school which makes the highest score in the judging contests held during the high school meet.

Other activities of Alpha Zeta are: sponsoring a smoker for all men in the Agriculture College and aiding the vocational agriculture department in carrying on the judging contests. The Chapter also has a loan fund for worthy, needy students of the Agricultural College.

The Arkansas Chapter was organized in 1917 and has at present 152 alumni members in addition to the 16 active members.

Blackfriars, national honorary dramatic fraternity, was organized at the University of Arkansas in 1913 by Roger Williams, who was at that time a member of the public speaking department of the University. For a number of years it maintained a policy of a small exclusive membership, but later developed into an organization supplementing the work of the University Theatre.

This year, as in the past, the aims of the fraternity have been greatly accomplished in the presentation of a superior type of play production. Under the leadership of Mildred Danforth, president, the fraternity has produced several plays.

Blue Key, honor fraternity, was founded at the University of Florida in October, 1924, by Major Bert Riley. A national organization was established in February, 1925. Blue Key recognizes outstanding qualities in character, scholarship, student activities, leadership, and service. Membership is composed of graduate and undergraduate students of all departments of American colleges and universities. Honorary membership is extended to a limited number of faculty members and alumni. The fraternity is committed to cooperate with the faculty; to study student problems; stimulate progress and promote the interests of the institutions where it has chapters.

The badge is an oblong key of gold, on the surface of which appears a spreadeagle; in the mouth of the eagle is a wreath of laurel; at the feet, on the lower point of the cross, is a star. Outside of the oval in which these symbols appear, the corners of the key are brilliant azure blue.

The National Society of Lambda Tau was founded at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, by a group of English scholars. Beta Chapter was established on the campus of the University of Arkansas in 1913.

Membership in the organization is limited to those women students in the University who have displayed literary ability. The aim of this society is to create a greater interest in literary activity and to encourage originality by associating together girls who are really interested in the work.

Each month the members of the society meet. They discuss and study interesting topics in the current literary field.

Octagon, local honorary organization for outstanding senior women, was founded at the University of Arkansas in May, 1929, but did not make an official appearance on the campus until the following school year, when the members met, elected officers, and drew up a constitution.

The organization was begun under the leadership of Miss Martha Reid, Dean of Women, who has held up before the eyes of the group the prospect of Mortar Board, a national organization for outstanding women.

The name, Octagon, was chosen by the local group from the fact that there were eight members originally selected and the group has determined to adhere to the practice of pledging only one from each of the seven sororities and Carnall Hall. The purpose of the organization is to develop and encourage in young women the qualities of service, leadership, and scholarship.

Pi Mu Epsilon has grown out of the Math Club, an organization founded at the University of Arkansas on February 11, 1919, by a group of students interested in mathematics. The original group was under the direction of Dr. W. L. Miser. The local chapter was founded on the campus in 1931.

Pi Mu Epsilon requires a candidate for membership to have an average of 4.00 in mathematics, and relatively high grades in his other studies. The organization is honorary, and monthly meetings are held at which discussions of various mathematical topics are taken up, serving as a laboratory for those interested in the science.

Among the charter members of the club were A. M. Harding and D. P. Richardson. E. E. Stevenson, president of the club in 1922, was the recipient of a Rhodes Scholarship.

Sigma Alpha Iota, national music fraternity, was founded June 12, 1903, and was chartered in the early part of 1904 by seven women music students in the School of Music of the University of Michigan. There are now fifty-eight chapters.

The object of Sigma Alpha Iota is to form bodies of representative women who shall, by their influence and their musical interest, uphold the highest ideals of a musical education; to raise the standards of productive musical work among the women students of colleges and universities; to further the development of a stronger bond of musical interest and understanding between foreign countries and America; and to develop loyalty to the Alma Mater.

Sigma Omicron chapter, a strong link in S. A. I.'s chain of service and high ideals, was installed November 25, 1925. The chapter has four patronesses: Mrs. Harry Shultz, Mrs. Fred L. Kerr, Mildred Gillespie and Mrs. Bert Lewis.

Tau Beta Pi is an honorary society founded at Lehigh University, June 1885. Its purpose is to confer distinction upon those students who have maintained a high grade of scholarship and to foster a spirit of liberal culture in the engineering students in the institutions in which its chapters are located. When a chapter is established it may confer its key upon alumni and students of earlier years in analogy to a similar custom in Phi Beta Kappa.

Membership may be offered to graduates of engineering colleges where there is no chapter, provided the recipient has fulfilled the regular eligibility requirements. Membership of distinction may be conferred upon prominent engineers who may not already be members of the society.

Alpha chapter was founded at the University of Arkansas in 1914, and has been active ever since. Election is considered one of the highest honors that can be bestowed upon an engineer.

Ernie Wright, Roy Danuser, Charles Ivy, and Harold Ellis represented the University in all forensic contests. The team made a successful tour through Southeastern Kansas in which they discussed live questions before civic organizations. They concluded their series with a radio debate against University of Wichita.

Other debates were held here. The team also participated in the Missouri Valley tournament.

Agri Day Association, better known as A. D. A., is the organization which sponsors the annual celebration of the students of the College of Agriculture, Agri Day. The association was formed in 1917 and has continued to function each year in the presentation of a carnival featuring exhibits from various departments of the Agri college, a parade, and an Agri Ball. Christine McKissack reigned as queen of Agri Day this year, while Elwin Gilliland served as A. D. A. manager.

In addition to sponsoring the activities of Agri Day, the association is in charge of arrangements for an annual "Barn-Warmin'," given soon after the beginning of the school year, and a spring picnic and barn dance at the University Experiment Station farm. Each student of the College of Agriculture shares in the expenses of these enterprises, and each has a vote in the election of A. D. A. officers.

On Agri Day the students of the Agriculture School are freed of their college duties in order to have an all day celebration and dance. A parade is staged in which floats from all departments of the school are represented and take-offs on the other schools of the campus are exhibited.

Over all the festivities there reigns a Queen, and at the dance she leads the procession with the A. D. A. manager. This year Christine McKissack of Waldo was the Queen and Elwin Gilliland of Beebe was the manager.

During the past year Alpha Kappa Psi, a professional business organization, sponsored industrial tours of large business establishments in Tulsa, Fort Smith, and Rogers. Each year students in the school of Business Administration are treated to lectures by outstanding business men and economists of the State of Arkansas.

Joint meetings are held with the Fayetteville Chamber of Commerce, the Fayetteville Metro Club, and the Fayetteville Rotary Club, and each spring the organization sponsors a business school banquet.

This year an original research project was conducted, the subject being "Ascertaining the value of high school bookkeeping to students taking accounting in the University of Arkansas."

The American Institute of Electrical Engineers, a national organization, has as members professional engineers and a large number of students. Any student who is actively interested in electrical engineering is eligible for membership.

The purpose of the national organization is to promote the interests of the profession. It plays an important part in establishing and maintaining professional standards with which it is concerned. Through its branches it helps the student engineer while in school and helps him become established as a professional engineer after graduation.

The student branch at the University of Arkansas gives the student engineer an opportunity to associate with others who are interested in this branch of engineering. Regular meetings are held in which members present papers and discuss the various problems confronting the electrical engineer.

In 1920 there appeared in the states of the Southern Baptist Convention a movement known as the Baptist Student Union. This movement spread rapidly, and now, in almost every college in the south there is a local Baptist Student Union. Each fall the local unions meet in a state convention, and once every four years they meet in a southwide convention.

The B. S. U. is a connecting link between the college and the local Baptist church or churches. Membership is contingent upon membership in one of the unit organization of the B. S. U.—that is, the Sunday school, the B. Y. P. U., the Y. W. A. or the Life Service Band. Every Baptist student is a potential member of the B. S. U.

The officers of the B. S. U., together with a representative from each unit organization, form a B. S. U. Council. The duty of this council is to promote and correlate the activities of the various unit organizations.

In June 1936 Miss Irene Pearson was employed as full-time Student Secretary to work with the local B. S. U.

The University 4-H Club was founded in 1929 as an organization for students of the College of Agriculture who have completed one or more years of club work before entering the University.

The purpose of the club is to develop qualities of leadership, to increase knowledge of state and national club work, to encourage members of state 4-H clubs to enter the University, and to become more efficient workers in the field of Agriculture.

The club sponsors both of the cooperative houses for young men and women. The boys' home was organized in the fall of 1936 with accommodations for 16 men. The girls' home was established in 1931 and now accommodates 30 girls at a minimum expense. It was the first organization of its kind in the nation.

The University 4-H Club is the largest on the campus.

The University 4-H Club home for young men students, sponsored by the University 4-H Club, was organized on this campus last spring and summer, through the leadership of Artus Barnett, '36, then president of the University 4-H Club.

The purpose of the organization is to make it possible for young men with limited funds to attend the University of Arkansas College of Agriculture. The membership is limited to former 4-H Club members. Living costs this college year have been reduced 20 per cent from average current expenses, and higher standards have been achieved, both of which may be taken as concrete measures of the success of this cooperative enterprise.

Interest in such a plan for cooperative living is indicated by the 78 inquiries received from young men in various parts of the state by officers last summer, and the canned foods shower given the house by the Home Demonstration Clubs in 45 counties.

The faculty sponsors are J. V. Highfill and Kenneth B. Roy.

The Future Farmers of America was founded in Virginia in 1917 by Henry C Groseclose and a small group of farm boys enrolled in vocational agricultural work. Their aims were to encourage rural leadership and develop a love of country. Since that time the organization has grown to such an extent that it is one of the largest farm youth organizations in the country. It now has over 156,000 farm boys in its membership. It has also grown to include collegiate and alumni groups.

The collegiate chapter was organized on the University campus in the fall of 1935 by Fred Harper, president of Arkansas Alumni F. F. A. Out of the organization grew the Future Farmer's Cooperative Home which was founded in 1936. The main objectives are:

To aid farm boys in securing desirable room and board at low cost.

GENERAL ENGINEERING SOCIETY

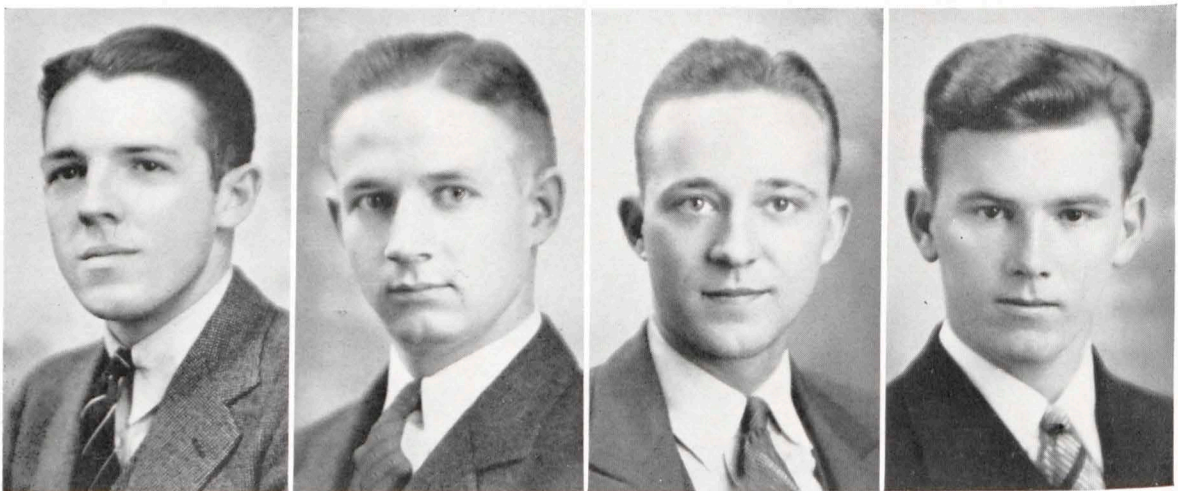

OFFICERS

LADD DAVIES	President
ROLFE ELDRIDGE	Vice-President
BILL LEWIS	Secretary
LARRY KELLEY	Treasurer

The General Engineering Society is composed of all the members of that branch of the University. It is an organization instituted for the purpose of promoting the interest of the Engineering College and to bring about a closer relationship between the students of the various departments.

It originated as the Arkansas Chapter of the Collegiate Engineers, but the students, feeling that they could work to a greater advantage, withdrew the chapter to organize the present society.

The organization works to the advantage of its members with an untiring effort to advertise the work of engineers throughout this state and contiguous states. Each year it stages the annual festivities of "Engineer's Day," which is held on the Friday nearest March 17, in honor of St. Patrick, patron saint of all engineers. On this day at a special convocation the members of the Senior Class are knighted. To become Saint Patrick is the highest honor that the society can bestow upon any student in the College of Engineering. This year Billy Lewis was awarded this signal honor, and Frances Rossner was elected as his queen.

Annually St. Pat's day is set aside for the Engineers to honor their Seniors. On this day St. Pat and his Queen rule the engineers, lead the grand march at the Engineers' ball, and knight each Senior engineer as he kisses the Blarney Stone. This year Billy Lewis of Pine Bluff was elected St. Pat, and Frances Rossner of Little Rock was chosen Queen.

Instead of exploding dynamite and blowing whistles at midnight, the engineers this year staged an impressive fire works show.

HILLEL

OFFICERS

BENJAMIN GINSBERG	President
WILLIAM J. MAISEL	Vice-President
ARNOLD GOULD	Publicity Manager

The Hillel Club is an outgrowth of the Menorah Society established on the campus in 1927. Finding the aims and ideals of Menorah too narrow, the steadily-growing group proposed affiliation with the Hillel College Foundations in 1933.

At the present there are approximately sixty active members in the organization, which is a member of the Arkansas Jewish Assembly and is working towards the goal of recognition as a unit of the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundations.

The purposes of the national organization are the advancement of religious, cultural and social activities among University students, and the local group presents varied programs during the year to foster these principles. Members of the University faculty, students, and members of the clergy deliver addresses regularly to fulfill the cultural aspect, and religious services as well as socials are held at Fort Smith in observance of the other objectives.

Starting anew with a mere handful as a nucleus in September of 1934, the organization has grown greatly in numbers and scope of interests within the past three years due to the untiring efforts of its officers, the earnest interest of its members, and the unselfish assistance of friends on and off the campus.

Honorary members are W. S. Gregson, Professor B. Sure, Professor B. Wertheim, Dean V. L. Jones and Mrs. W. E. Marks and Rabbi Samuel Teitelbaum of Fort Smith.

The International Relations Club is one of many such organizations established in both American and foreign colleges and universities under the auspices of the Carnegie Endowment for Peace which supplies the various clubs with books dealing with international relations and resumes of important and timely events taking place in the nations of the world. The Endowment also sends speakers to the district meets who are recognized for their ability in the field of international relations. Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, and Texas form the Southwest District. Tom Gentry represented this Club at the district meet in New Orleans this year.

The Vigilance Committee, as its name implies, maintains supposed vigil over the life of the lowly freshman, that he may not fall into error. Should he fall into error and walk on the sacred senior walk, or forget to wear the customary green cap on his humbly bowed head . . . woe be unto the freshman if the vigilance committee finds it out. Some of the supposed penalties that the erring frosh were to be given were to call hogs in the main hall, count all of the names on the senior walk, number the steps in the main building, wear baby clothes, and carry out any reasonable command of the Vigilance Committee.

Pi Kappa, a woman's professional journalistic sorority, was founded at the University of Arkansas in 1917. Membership of the group is made up of women who are planning to take up the profession of journalism, and only those who have shown marked interest, originality, and ability along these lines as well as having done consistent and creditable work on student publications, are recognized by the sorority.

The purpose of the organization is to promote the interests of the profession and to bring about a more consummate feeling of cooperation and understanding among its members.

Enthusiastic are the members of the Poetry Club who meet monthly to read and discuss their own and others' verse. Membership is based on merit of poetry submitted and wish of applicants to further the Club's aims.

Famous as international writer whose work has appeared in more varied magazines than any other, Mrs. Rosa Zagnoni Marinoni, Poet Laureate of Arkansas and of the Ozarks, is sponsor. She helped to found the organization in 1926 with Laurence F. Hawkins, onetime instructor of English.

Members achieve two objects: improvement of their work; deeper appreciation of verse. Magazines have printed some of their creations.

The Commerce Guild is an organization open to all commerce and pre-commerce students. Its purpose is both scholastic and social.

In the scholastic field it arranges for notable speakers and sponsors industrial tours to points of interest.

In the social field it conducts the spring banquet of the business school and sponsors any other form of entertainment that may be desired.

Primarily of course it is to promote the interests of the students of the School of Business Administration.

Theta Tau was founded at the University of Minnesota on October 15, 1904. It was from the first intended to be a professional engineering fraternity to inculcate high ethical and professional standards and to foster close fraternal relations among its members. Membership is limited to students of engineering of "personal worthiness and of promising engineering ability." Its scholastic standards are high. It does not permit its members to join other engineering fraternities except honorary or scholastic organizations.

Until 1911 the fraternity was also known as "Hammer and Tongs," but in that year the Greek letter name which now appears on the badge was adopted.

Upsilon Chapter was established at the University of Arkansas in 1928, and has been consistently active in Engineering School affairs.

Changing radically from tradition, the singing organization of the University this season metamorphosed from the Men's Glee Club to the University Mixed Chorus.

In former years, the only feminine touch had been an occasional girl soloist.

Professor Harry E. Shultz, European-trained, jovial, chubby director, head of the Music Department, inaugurated a male and female group in the fall. Its immediate success prophesies future attainments.

The University Theater, official dramatic organization of the department of speech, was organized in October, 1932, under the sponsorship of Professor V. L. Baker.

This year the program included "Ladies of the Jury," "Ivory Door," a Christmas program, "Why the Chimes Rang," and a puppet show, "The Doctor In Spite of Himself," directed by Mrs. V. L. Baker, "A Winter's Tale," and three one act plays, "Helena's Husband," "The Slave with Two Faces," and "Rising of the Moon," were directed by Blair Hart. One hundred thirty took part this year in plays.

The Women's Commerce Guild was organized April 21, 1936, under the sponsorship of Dr. A. W. Jamison, with the approval of Dr. C. C. Fichtner. The purpose of the organization is "To promote the cause of higher business education and training for all women, to foster high ideals for women in business careers, and to encourage fraternity and cooperation among women preparing for such careers."

This organization has made it possible for the women in the School of Business Administration to meet socially and to broaden their perspectives through the association with others who are working toward similar goals.

Mrs. Pearl E. Green, a member of the School of Business Administration faculty, is an honorary member.

The Women's League was organized at the University of Arkansas in 1926 by the women students of the institution with the purpose of bringing about a closer unity and a more concerted organization among the women students. The organization became active immediately. It has seen a steady growth.

The League attempts to promote good fellowship and cooperation among the women students and to uphold the highest standards of honor, scholarship, and loyalty to the University. Women who would otherwise remain comparative strangers due to the clannishness of campus social groups, are brought into close contact.

Other colleges and universities adopted the idea of a banded body of women and have founded similar organizations to promote cooperation among women students. We feel a little pride in the fact that Arkansas was a pioneer in this field.

The Y. M. C. A. promotes Christian work upon the campus. The Y. M. C. A. at the University of Arkansas is organized for the same purpose as the national organization, and for the purpose of making the student feel at home. The ideal of service as the basis of all worthy enterprise has been the motive of W. S. Gregson, general secretary of the organization, to whose untiring efforts the success of Y. M. C. A. at the University is due. During his fourteen years upon the campus he has given his whole life and soul to his work.

The Young Women's Christian Association works with unmitigated effort to promote Christian work at the University. All University women are invited to take an active part in all work at all time. Among its duties is that of making the freshmen feel at home during the trying months after they first arrive at the University. It aids to help them get acquainted and feel welcome in the institution.

This year, in order to promote a friendly feeling among the women students, YWCA members have sponsored bi-monthly teas.

LIFE?

THREE STUNNING NAKED NUDES

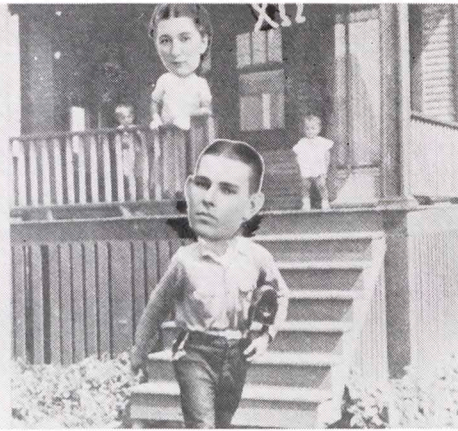

EXTRA, 1937

SENSE

Politics open in 1937 when "Tweed" Gardner, reinforced by his intimate chum, "Mussolini" Didinsky, dangled 200 votes before the greedy eyes of "Trick-eye" McDaniel. The pact was sealed in the above touching scene.

Next day amid uproarious laughter and the most awful jibes, "Prexy" Howell was informed with a soak across the facial features, of the gigantic coup. He uttered crossly, "I have been crossed, recrossed, and double crossed in a most fierce manner. Damn."

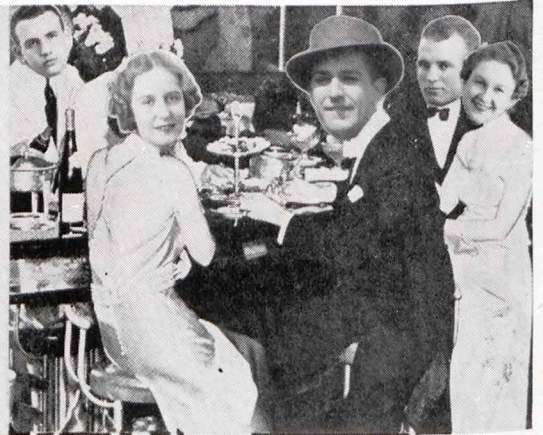

Things began to pop when "Commandant" Woods heard rumors. He turned sharply on the ball of his left foot and the heel of his right foot and saluted vigorously.

Smoke saturated atmosphere was disturbed no end when "The Little Emancipator" flayed the ether waves with a stream of oratory that rolled the teeming masses in the aisles at the opening Independent rally.

Heated protests rent the air as "Trick-eye" took the Deacon to task for his alleged denouncement of the Chios. The Deacon replied that he had merely seen his predestined duty and done it honestly.

Masculinity entered the fracas as "Esquire" Nisbet exerted his wiles at the bar of beautiful Blossom Heath in an effort to win support for the Razor-backs. A couple of hangers-on are shown helping out the cause.

High pressure was placed tactfully on the president by "Slicker" Cunningham when the astounding news went the rounds that a Chi Omega, a Chio of all things, imagine, had been kicked out of the race.

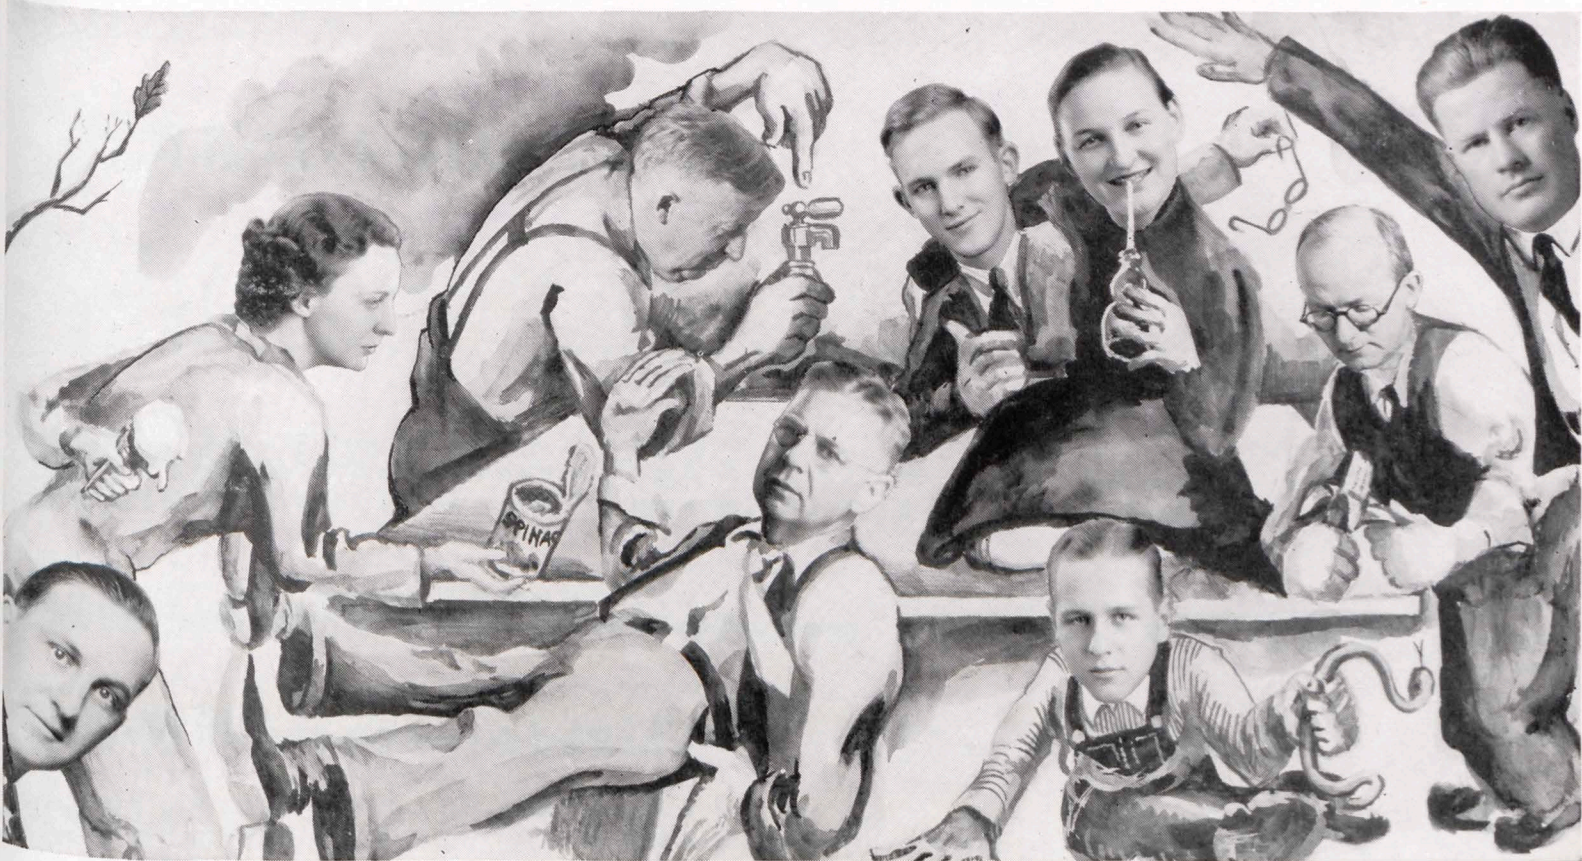

Typical scene of hilarity is the one above of "Heat-wave" Happy when the silver lining shone around the storm clouds due to President Fu-trall's ruling. Later, however, the lining disappeared and it rained like hell and hasn't stopped yet.

Typical scene of remorse and thoughts of vengeance is the one above of "Blank-shot" Gunn, alias "Cap pistol", John, as he sits in solitude with his trusty musket preparatory to gathering wild petunias with which to comfort Chios in their sorrow.

LIFE GOES TO A DEAD PARTY

THE HOARD OF COMPLICATIONS

A NIGHT AT THE HORSE OPERA

It was down in Bud's old Royal on the south side of the square

On a balmy Sunday evening and a goodly crowd was there.

There was the guy in the balcony who sprinkled the people below

And a gal who shouted all through the show at the people she "ought to know".

The pest was there who climbed over the seats in the middle of the row,

And the boy and the girl at the very back, who didn't come for the show.

The peanut shells crackling all over the house made a noise that sounded like hail,

While one of the cats, who haunted the place, sang in an off-key wail.

A dizzy blond kept hopping up to find out who was there.

Nobody knew what the picture was and no one seemed to care.

ARKANSAS LEGENDS AND LIVING . . .

. both have their place somewhere, the Razorback used to think. Here are the first sketches of the proposed pictures as presented to Life by the artist in one of his more lucid moments. It was originally planned to paint these murals on the walls of various buildings about the campus but the plan was abandoned when the artist refused to paint on school walls because, he said, he had spent all his school life standing with his face to the wall and anyway the horse hair in the plaster made him think of stables, stables made him think of horses, horses made him think of hay, and hay gave him hay fever.

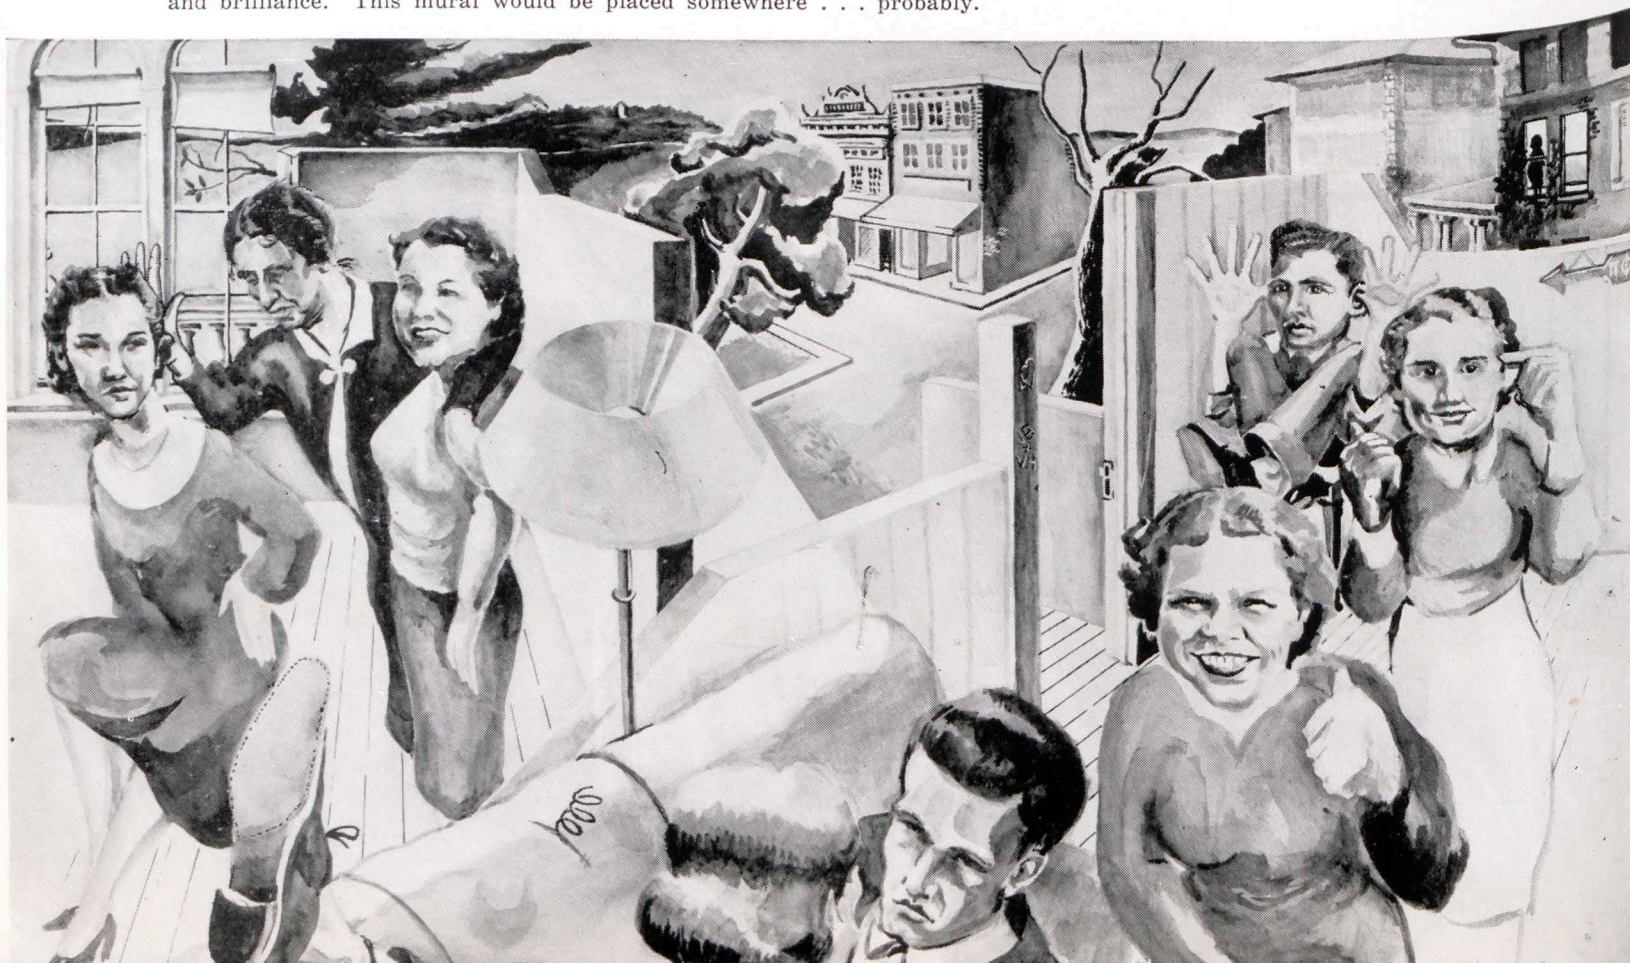

To gather atmosphere the artist cut classes for four weeks so that he could see school life first hand. It then took him six weeks to recover

Four student politicians (above) reverently clasp their hands just before the collection plate is passed at Sunday morning service in this mural proposed for the north wall of the first floor in the middle of the corridor in the new Law Building . . . the artist thinks. Half of the mural depicts a pretentious dive "where some of the boys are whooping it up" beneath a cold winter moon. The lemonade is pink to lend a festive air. In the foreground is an allegorical figure representing a scholar and the light burning above his head is just an electric light.

One big happy family at home and at school (below). A couple of co-eds from a couple of sororities get a bit of motherly advice. An inside picture of life in a sorority shows the girls hard at work appreciating the boys who are hard at work being appreciated. The scene fades into a street of the busy city with Mt. Sequoyah beyond. A bit of dead wood can also be seen close by the door, and over one wall is the top of Carnall Hall, a blaze of light and brilliance. This mural would be placed somewhere . . . probably.

Students at play (above) relax from the toil of school in the shadow of "Old Main's" towers and the smoke from the heating plant. This mural also may be put somewhere . . . the artist doesn't think. Two students spoof on the spoofer stone while in the foreground another couple play tag with a beer bottle down by the tracks in a Shuler cafe, and a good time is had by all. The artist has also given his impression of cheek-to-cheek dancing and the Arkansas Hop as done by a group of experts. When asked why the flag was at half-mast he mumbled something about the hope being broken and went back to his mud pies. Close examination will also show a steam shovel, a slot machine, a street light, a senior walk, an interested spectator, and a few trees of assorted sizes scattered here and there. Also one good chair and a girl's foot that don't seem to belong to any one.

and when he finally was able to go to work he had forgotten what he was supposed to do. These pictures are the result. Characters are taken from actual life but the artist lost his memory as the result of being hit on the hand by a two dollar bill and now can't remember the names of students in the murals. A full solution of the murals including addresses and phone numbers can be had, however, by sending an exchange list of phone numbers and two dollars in unmarked bills to the artist on or before the date he leaves school.

In 1937 LIFE? commissioned Hack MacAngelo Jobson to paint a mural history of the Arkansas campus to be donated to the school in memory of the Hog Wallow. MacAngelo comes from a long line of Ozark "interior decorators". At the age of three he painted his first mural with his tooth brush on the bathroom mirror. Since then he has written his name on the walls of the most famous buildings in the state of Arkansas. Success, however, first came when he painted a mustache on a billboard picture of Greta Garbo. Soon after this he entered the University of Arkansas where he now plans to carry on his noble work. He will probably die soon.

LIFE'S ALBUM...

Shadow-handed destiny held in its supreme tribunal that we three boyhood chums should have a sorrowful parting. We are all so different. Bruce turned out to be a nice guy and a square shooter, but I, J. J. Dager (alias Daggett) hang my head in shame. I, Bruce T. Bullion am called "Bull" by friends, and they don't refer to tobacco.

We two mates are hotshots, as the proletariat would have it. Come Sunday afternoons we went buggy riding. We rode incessantly, and now, even in walking, have that certain buggy swing.

When I, the great Paul Latture, entered this greater University, little did I think that my fame had spread so far that Dean Ripley would fingerprint me.

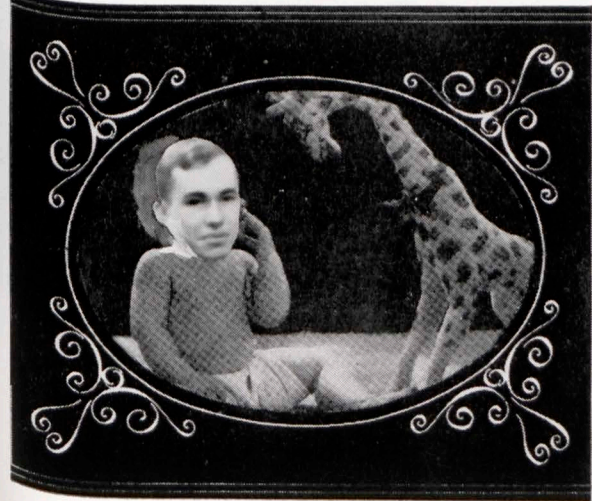

I, Griffin Smith, Jr., take great pleasure in stealing a kiss occasionally. One gal asked me why I wanted to kiss her and I just told her, "My lips itch." Another asked me why, and I told her, "I'm thirsty."

I spent my boyhood in Cotton Plant relating to all comers the greatness of John Diffy. Later I moved across the street, out of Cotton Plant, and now I'm at the University telling everybody about me. Did you know that my godfathers were Hart, Shaffner, and Marx?

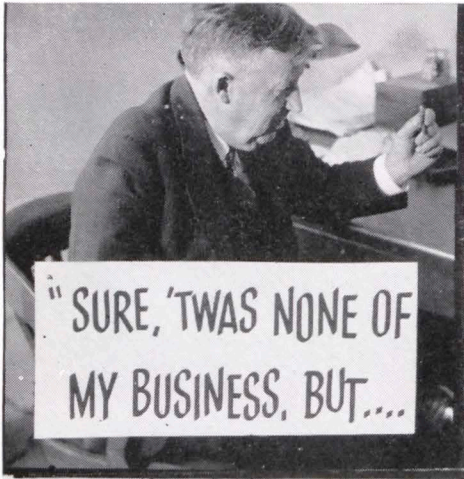

I'm from Texas and you can't steer me, Alexander. (The Great) Wyckliff Nisbet. They called me "The Bull of the Pampas" when I played football. I'm too good for these sissies here, but I do watch some of the games if I can get enough girls to go with me.

I, Joe Emmett (Sheiky Eyebrows' Neblett, to aid the cause of the Independent party in the last campaign, exerted my wiles on the lovely Wanda Walters. I wanted to get Wanda's $5,000,000 she got selling poetry to put in the election fund to help Deacon.

Even before I passed from infancy into stalwart manhood, I, Clayton Nolen Little, had learned the political ropes. Often I kissed mamma out of a licking, and kissed papa out of terrible tantrums. Then I came to the University but I failed with the Chi Omegas in 1936 and in 1937 Pi Phis wouldn't do such things.

IN CLOSING...

. Well, this is the end of the RAZORBACK, the end of the year, and the end of a day at Arkansas.

We hope you've enjoyed your trip about the campus and that you haven't found too many things to annoy you. But, above all else, we hope that you haven't been bored.

And now that you've finished this day, this year, this RAZORBACK, we want just one last word, not of farewell, for an annual should never be discarded, but rather one last note before you start your criticisms, complaints, and general hue and cry; one last chance to tell you that we have worked all year to be able to give you this single day. That we have taken pictures, pasted pictures, written and re-written copy. That we have sworn and been sworn at. That we have finally finished our work and now turn the results of that work over to you.

But before you leave, here is just one last word of advice for you: This day and your other days at Arkansas will probably be among the happiest in your life, hard though that may be to believe. So keep this book and let it help to introduce you again and again to Today at Arkansas.

LOYALTY... ■ ■ ■

Arkansas will be great in proportion to the spirit of loyalty manifested by University graduates.

In the loyalty of University graduates to the home state and to home industries lies Arkansas' greatest hope for future growth. Such loyalty means a wealth of opportunities for graduates in years to come.

This spirit of loyalty is exemplified in the growth of the Lion Oil Refining company from a small beginning to the state's largest refinery with large holdings in Louisiana and Texas and outlets in other states.

The fact that Lion laid its foundation in its home state has meant large payrolls, increased buying power, expenditures of millions of dollars for supplies and enormous sums in the form of taxes for the support of Arkansas schools and institutions.

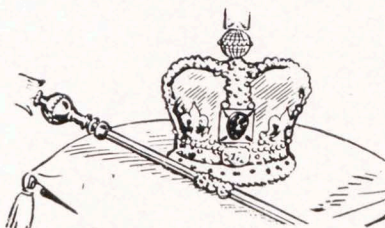

So—in the spirit of loyalty—we salute you.

We are living in an age of cooperation and friendship,
Without which, very few of us could exist
"No man liveth to himself alone.

Think! Just think of a minute of
A man living unto himself alone,
Without competition but without
Companions or friends.

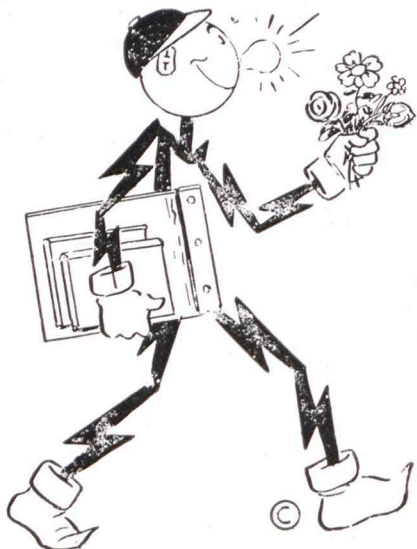

You have been friendly to us
And we sincerely wish you
A happy and successful future.

I'M A COLLEGE MAN, TOO

I am on the campus day and night, working hard. I light the campus as well as the buildings and class rooms. I furnish power for the machinery and do many other things. I never cut classes. I work long hours and never get tired.
My labor is cheap. The longer I work, the less I get paid per hour.

Ode to a Pansy

*Oh take me back to days of yore
When raspberries were never heard
And a goose was known as nothing more
Than just a common bird,
And the only meaning of abroad
Was a trip across the water,
When the use of it was an awful fraud
In referring to someone's daughter*

*And the use of the verb "to make"
Meant doing something good.
But now our words are just a fake
And can hardly be understood,
But most of all, I want to go,
Back to that distant hour
When a pansy as we used to know
Meant just a common flower.*

AN IDEA

EXPERIENCE

REALITY

IDEAS, born in the minds of yearbook staff members, can become REALITIES within the pages of a finished book only through the competent guidance of those who have EXPERIENCE in the field of yearbook production. Realizing this fact, editors and managers of college and high school annuals have been, for more than a quarter of a century, employing, and profiting by, the experienced service, distinctive art creations and "PRINT TESTED PLATES" offered by SOUTHWESTERN ENGRAVING COMPANY.

SWECO EXPERIENCE assures your IDEAS of becoming REALITIES even greater than anticipated.
